GOV'TS OF CANADA AND U.S. AGREED ON PLANS FOR SEAWAY

Treaty Being Prepared for Signature at Early Date, Says Official Announcement—St. Lawrence Ship Channel and Power Project Will Cost Nearly Billion Dollars

OTTAWA, July 13 (CP).—The St. Lawrence deep waterway—ship channel from the heart of the North American continent to the Atlantic Ocean—is to be constructed, Canada and the United States have concluded an outline of the necessary treaty; final terms have been settled, and the treaty is being prepared for signatures at an early date.

Long anticipated, the official announcement broke simultaneously today in Ottawa and Washington. In the whole gamut of world engineering, the project will be second only to the Panama Canal. Described officially as a means of improving and cheapening transport for a large part of the North American continent, carrying out of the project will enable vessels now commonly plying on the Great Lakes to reach the sea. Alternatively, ocean vessels will be able to penetrate the continent to the head of the Great Lakes.

POWER DEVELOPMENT
Combined with great navigational facilities will be a very substantial power development. More than 5,000,000 horsepower of electrical energy will be made available. Of this total, 2,200,000 horsepower will be generated in the international section, Ontario will have the use of 1,100,000. The United States, under the boundary waters treaty, will have the remaining 1,100,000 horsepower. In the national or purely Canadian section, lying in Quebec Province, 3,000,000 horsepower will ultimately be developed. The Beaulieu power project, thirty miles from Montreal, will be utilized in the national section.

Thus—400 years after its discovery by Jacques Cartier—the St. Lawrence River, by international action, may go far towards revolutionizing transportation in Canada. Again, there will be the industrial activity contingent on the water power development.

FULL STATEMENT LATER
The brief official announcement, simultaneously released in Ottawa and Washington, intimates that the treaty has been signed "a full statement by the Governments concerned will be issued." Unofficial estimates of the cost are the navigational expenditures will be from $175,000,000 to $200,000,000, and with the power expenditures bring the entire total up to $800,000,000. In the division of costs as between

MAY DECIDE TO GO TO MEXICO

Doukhobor Factions Confer—Consent of Verigin Is Essential

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., July 13. Rival Doukhobor factions have descended upon this city where Peter B. Verigin, their leader, is serving an eighteen months' jail term, and from the series of conferences being held may come a decision for the Doukhobors to migrate in a body from Canada to Mexico.

Should such a decision be reached, it will, it is said, entail the launching of a business deal involving many millions of dollars. J. N. Hackney, St. Paul, Minnesota, of the International Colonization Corporation, is here holding himself in readiness to handle the migration should the plan be proceeded with. He had charge of the movement of twelve Doukhobor families from Canada to Mexico three years ago.

LEADER NONCOMMITTAL
Meanwhile Verigin remains non-committal. The plan, it is said, involves first the granting of consent by Verigin. Immediately thereafter the governments concerned will be approached and asked to issue a parole for Verigin, provided he leaves Canada.

Philip Ney, Winnipeg barrister, and Ben Porter, Canora, Sask., barrister, are here to act, it is said, on behalf of Hackney to secure a parole for Verigin should he consent to the migration. Other powerful factions are opposing the migration proposal. P. C. Makarov, Saskatoon barrister, is one of the leaders of the anti-migration groups. Success or failure of the migrationists will probably be known in a few days, it is learned.

MOBILIZE FORCES AGAINST REBELS

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 13 (AP).—The Federal Government mobilized men, money and munitions today to stamp out the revolutionary movement whose leaders have seized control of the important state of Sao Paulo.

Credit of approximately $1,500,000 was decreed to meet extraordinary expenses. Meanwhile Porto Alegre became a clearing house for Government troops with whom the Federal authorities planned to wage vigorous warfare against the rebellion.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett Extends Canada's Warm Welcome

PERSONALLY and on behalf of the Government of Canada, I extend the warmest welcome to the members of the Australian and New Zealand delegations to the Imperial Economic Conference, soon to meet in Ottawa.

It is the sincere hope of every Canadian that their stay in our country may be beneficial, alike to themselves, to their several Dominions, to the Empire and to the world, and that as a result of the united efforts of the family, the fortunes of each may be advanced and the world made better because of their gathering in our Capital City.

R. B. BENNETT,
Prime Minister.

RT. HON. R. B. BENNETT

Delegates to Be Assured of Warm Welcome to City

Dominion, Province and City Combine to Extend Felicitations to Distinguished Visitors From Australia, New Zealand and Fiji En Route to Imperial Economic Conference

VICTORIA today has the signal honor of being the first city in Canada to formally welcome official delegations from sister Dominions on their way to Ottawa to attend the Imperial Economic Conference. When the big Canadian-Australian liner Aerodock docks this morning, representatives of the Dominion, Province and City will be on hand to extend a combined welcome to the distinguished visitors, and to assure them of the general hope of all good Canadians that their stay in Canada will be enjoyable, and that the outcome of the parley will be mutually beneficial.

HON. W. DOWNIE STEWART

Lowered tariff walls and stabilization of Canada's dollar with the pound sterling will be planks offered by Ontario for the farm platform. Insight into the line the farmers' proposals will take was gleaned from a call for the meeting, sent out by the United Farmers of Ontario. One paragraph read: "The farm delegation will inform the Government of actual farm conditions and will explain that since the farmer is the nation's best customer, we cannot look for the return of better times until his purchasing power is restored."

LOOK TO CONFERENCE
Contention that the experiment of buying and selling at home behind high tariff walls has been tragic, is set forth in the advance folder the U.F.O. sent out in connection with the meeting. Agriculture must have wider markets, that farm body sets forth, and the Imperial Conference can provide these markets.

Retaliatory Tariff Free State's Reply To British Measure
Cabinet Will Introduce Emergency Bill in Day Today—Will Confer on Executive Council Power to Impose Unspecified Duties

DUBLIN, July 13 (CP).—The Irish Free State is going to meet the new British duties on its goods with a retaliatory tariff of its own against Great Britain. The Free State Cabinet decided to introduce an emergency bill in the Dail Eireann tomorrow to deal with the situation created by the British imports of 20 per cent ad valorem on the principal Free State products, such as livestock, dairy products and bacon and pork.

CLAIM JAPANESE FAIL IN PROMISE

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP).—A dispatch from Kharkov, published here today, said the Japanese had failed to fulfill their promise not to interfere with the operation of the Chinese Eastern Railway in Manchuria. The railway is jointly owned by China and Russia.

The dispatch said that the rail at Harbin was seized on July 7 by a group of Manchurian local police, commanded by a Japanese adviser representing the staff of the Manchuria river fleet.

The action, the dispatch charged, was prompted by a Japanese desire to lease the harbor to a Japanese transportation firm, which is a branch of the South Manchuria Railway, and thus to divert traffic to that road, which is controlled by the Japanese, at the expense of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

British Columbia Extends Greetings

"The Government and people of British Columbia welcome with open arms our cousins from the Southern Dominions and Fiji. We share with them a common heritage; we have similar hopes; similar ideals and similar civilization, and with them we look forward with trust and confidence to a more glorious Empire as a result of the great conference in which they will take part. To them we say: 'We are happy to greet you and pray that your stay will be pleasant and your hopes and our hopes be fully attained.'"

R. H. POOLEY,
Acting Premier of B.C.

NO THOUGHT OF FAILURE AT OTTAWA

Four Delegates Bound for Conference Given Rousing Send-Off

MEETING THIRD STEP ON ROAD TO RECOVERY

BY GEORGE HAMILTON
SS. EMPRESS OF BRITAIN, At Sea, July 13 (By Wireless to the Canadian Press).—"We will not think of failure. We will not talk of failure. The people want us to succeed and we intend not to deceive them," declared Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for Dominion Affairs in the British Cabinet, as the British statesmen, bound for the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, delivered a parting message while the liner Empress of Britain drove on past the Needles, off the Isle of Wight, this afternoon.

Rain was beginning to sweep across the sports deck of the liner as the galaxy of British Cabinet Ministers, seven of them, with Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and leader of the delegation, in their midst, were seated in a semi-circle on the deck facing a battery of talking moving picture cameras. The machines, with the pictures and spoken record of the message of the departing ministers, were taken off the liner at Cherbourg before she left there this evening, and set her course for the Straits of Belle Isle.

GOING TO SUNSHINE
"And that," said Mr. Thomas, "is the spirit in which we are going. That is the spirit that will pull us through." He commented on the weather, but added, "We are going to sunshine and to meet people who will give us a real welcome. We have a team captained by a great

Bar Gold Recovered By Divers

BELFAST, July 13.—Bar gold worth nearly $100,000 was recovered today by the salvage ship Estoy from the wreck of the British auxiliary cruiser Laurence, which sank in 1916 while carrying millions in bullion to the United States.

The British auxiliary cruiser Laurence struck a mine and sank off the north coast of Ireland six years ago. Shortly after the war ended, salvage operations were started to recover the bullion she carried. In 1924 about $25,000,000 was taken from the wreck. The operations have continued intermittently since then.

Canada's Minister of Commerce Welcomes Delegates

THE arrival in Canada of the delegates to the Imperial Conference from our sister Dominions of the southern hemisphere is very important in the history of this country, because they are here to attend a conference which is not only looked upon as of great significance to the British Empire, but is being watched with the keenest interest by other countries of the world as well. Furthermore, the three Dominions, New Zealand, Australia and Canada, have already successfully negotiated treaties dealing with their economic relations, and have therefore established a precedent which should form a very impressive example to the whole Conference and insure a successful issue.

We of Canada welcome our friends from these two great Dominions, and our confidence in the outcome of the Conference is renewed by their presence in our midst.

H. H. STEVENS,
Minister of Trade and Commerce.

representing Australia and New Zealand, who reach Victoria today on their way to Ottawa to attend the Imperial Conference. They are accompanied by associates and advisers. Both are former Prime Ministers of their respective Dominions. For Australia, Mr. Bruce is accompanied by Hon. H. S. Gullett, Minister of Trade and Customs, and for New Zealand, Mr. Coates shares the exacting duties of representing his country with Hon. W. Downie Stewart, Minister of Finance and Customs.

Britain and France Sign New Pact for Exchange of Views

Sir John Simon Surprises House With Announcement of Accord to Work Together for Settlement of European Problems

LONDON, July 13 (CP).—Great Britain and France have signed a new accord under which they will "exchange views with complete candor" in attacking the problems that have kept Europe in turmoil. Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, surprised the House of Commons and the country with this announcement in the House this afternoon.

He emphasized this agreement had no connection whatever with relations between France and United States or between Britain and United States, specifically in respect to war debts owed to America.

IS SEPARATE ACCORD
He made clear the accord was not to be confused with the "gentlemen's agreement," signed by Britain, France and Italy at Lausanne, which will hold the Lausanne reparations settlement in abeyance until United States has been heard from on the question of war debts revision.

The Foreign Minister's announcement was made shortly before Parliament adjourned until October 27.

FOUR GENERAL HEADS
The pact, the text of which is very brief, contains four general heads:

(1) It provides for complete and candid consultation between Britain and France on all matters of common interest, similar in origin to that now so happily settled at Lausanne, which may affect the European regime.

(2) It provides for co-operation to solve disarmament.

(3) It paves the way for co-operative preparation for the world economic conference.

(4) It binds the two nations not to discriminate against each other pending negotiation of a new commercial treaty.

Uruguay Breaks With Argentina

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, July 13 (AP).—The Government announced today that it had severed diplomatic relations with Argentina as a result of reports that General Severo Toranzo, of Argentina, was aboard the Uruguayan cruiser Uruguay when it visited Buenos Aires on July 9.

Passports were handed by the Government to the Argentine ambassador, Jose M. Cantillo, and the Uruguayan ambassador at Buenos Aires, Leonel Aguirre, was recalled.

UNDERWORLD HOARDS MILLIONS IN CASH
UNIVERSITY, Va., July 13.—Five hundred million dollars in "centuries and grand" has been withdrawn from circulation in the United States by members of the underworld since Al Capone was arrested, and the Seabury investigation was started, Robert Warren, economist, told the Virginia Institute of Public Affairs.

He estimated that Americans are hoarding $2,000,000,000 in cash. This was withdrawn mostly in hundred, thousand and ten-thousand dollar bills.

Five Thousand Bathing Lovers, Clothing and Money in Flames

FOUR BLOCKS BURN; LOSS IS $2,500,000

NEW YORK, July 13.—Fighting the flames in nearly complete darkness, firemen from the entire borough of Brooklyn and Lower Manhattan succeeded, late tonight, in completely extinguishing the disastrous blaze which caused more than $2,500,000 damage to Coney Island, famed playground of millions.

Upwards of five thousand bathers, their clothing and money burned, were left stranded on the beach by the fire.

When the flames first began to crackle, a few of the fleetest managed to enter the bathhouses and salvage their belongings in a race against time. The great majority were unable to break through, and wandered about for hours in their bathing suits.

Power lines in the fire area burned out, and use of floodlights or any electrical illumination was made impossible.

MASS OF WRECKAGE
Four blocks of Coney's internationally-known Boardwalk was a black steaming mass of wreckage. Bathhouses, apartment buildings, small concessions and amusements, which made more than 1,000 homeless, were destroyed by the conflagration, which threatened earlier in the day to completely wipe out the city's playground.

Suffering from burns, smoke and other injuries, more than 200 persons, including firemen and police, were treated at an emergency station established at the scene. Forty of the victims were removed to hospitals. None of the injuries was expected to prove fatal.

LOSS IS HEAVY
The damage to bathhouses, apartment buildings, small concessions and dwellings was estimated by William C. Melch, chairman of the Coney Island Chamber of Commerce, at $2,500,000, of which about $1,500,000 was covered by insurance.

At least five large bathhouses—all of them expensively equipped—a six-story apartment house, five three-story apartment houses, and dozens of cheaply-built stands were caught in the fire's stride. They burned rapidly and showered sparks over all the resort.

GAME LAWS FOR SEASON ISSUED

Few Changes in Dates for Open Seasons in British Columbia

The revised game laws for 1932 and 1933 seasons of hunting in the Province of British Columbia were promulgated by order-in-council, yesterday, and will appear in this week's issue of the British Columbia Gazette.

AIR MAIL FLIGHT PROVES SUCCESS

RIMOUSKI, Que., July 13 (CP).—The experimental flight of air mail from Ottawa to the Straits of Belle Isle was successfully completed today with the arrival of a seaplane at Red Bay at 1:30 p.m. Word of the arrival reached here by wireless tonight.

The message relieved some anxiety felt earlier in the day when rumors spread that a plane had crashed at Thunder Bay, Que.

The flight was made in two days instead of the one day originally scheduled. Yesterday morning early the mail left Ottawa. The final lap, in a seaplane, was flown today under good flying conditions.

Doctor and Dentist Are Giving Valuable Service

Dr. David Donald and Dr. H. J. Henderson Stand Virtually Vindicated by Findings of Investigating Committee—Work Efficient

The work of the medical health officer and dentist in the city's public schools virtually was vindicated by the report brought in at last night's meeting of the school board by the committee appointed at the request of Trustee V. E. Emery to investigate these services.

The report was tantamount to a eulogy of the services given in the schools by Dr. David Donald, medical health officer, and Dr. H. J. Henderson, school dentist.

"Considering the provisions of the School Act the committee is of the opinion that health inspection of the Victoria schools is mandatory and must be provided in the school organization," the report read.

"The staff of the health inspection department comprises Dr. David Donald, health inspector, assisted by three qualified nurses, all on full time. The net annual maintenance cost of the department to the city is approximately $5,000.

"As a result of this investigation the committee considers the department is both efficiently organized and administered. At the same time the committee hopes that there may be further co-operation between the school health department and the Victoria Medical Association with respect to the treatment of indigent pupils suffering from physical disabilities. Further, the committee recommends that the school health inspector be relieved of part-time instructional duties at the Victoria High School to enable him to devote his full time to the work of health inspection."

The report also states that:

"The investigation impressed the committee with the value of the services of the school nurse who is called upon to visit homes at all times, and to give her time unparagoned in her efforts to promote the health of the pupils under her supervision. A successful school nurse must be one who is qualified by wide experience to meet mothers and tactfully advise them regarding the care or treatment of their children."

"The staff of the dental department of the Victoria schools comprises a school dentist with hours from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and a qualified dental nurse on full time. The net annual cost to the city of this department is, approximately, $3,000.

"The committee interviewed the school dentist, Dr. Henderson, and the nurse, Miss Hodge. After a careful investigation of the work of both these officials the committee considers that dental inspection in the schools of Victoria is efficiently organized and thoroughly done.

"In conclusion, the committee wishes to express the opinion that the work done by both the medical and dental departments in promoting the health of the pupils in attendance, fully justifies the maintenance of these departments."

EFFICIENTLY ORGANIZED

"As a result of this investigation the committee considers the department is both efficiently organized and administered. At the same time the committee hopes that there

N.Y. Governor Summers in Canada

SUMMER home of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, New York State, Democratic nominee for presidency of the United States, at Campobello, New Brunswick. For almost thirty years the Roosevelt family have maintained a summer home at this picturesque spot on Passamaquoddy Bay. During recent years the members of the Governor's family have annually spent several weeks during the summer in New Brunswick, and last year the three sons of Governor Roosevelt spent several days on a salmon fishing trip on the St. John River.

MANSON FUNERAL AT NANAIMO

VANCOUVER, July 13.—The funeral of Michael Manson, M.P.P., who died suddenly at Bella Coola on Monday, will be held at Nanaimo, where he resided for many years, according to brief notices received here by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Margaret Manson.

GOV'TS OF CANADA AND U.S. AGREED ON PLANS FOR SEAWAY

Canada and the United States, it is reported the basis will be a fifty-fifty one with allowance for Canada for $20,000,000 expenditure on the Welland Canal, and further expenditures such as the St. Lawrence ship channel.

A two-stage development will take place. Dams, it is stated, will be constructed at Barnhart Island and Ogden or Chrysler Island. Power will be available in the international section three years after work starts. Completion of all navigational works permitting ocean vessels to proceed through to the Great Lakes will take about seven years.

LEAD IN NEGOTIATIONS

Conversations have been conducted between Premier R. B. Bennett, Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to Washington; Hon. Hanford Macpherson, United States Minister to Canada; and Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, while the Canadian Government has had interviews with Premier George S. Henry of Ontario, and Hon. L. A. Taschereau, of Quebec.

The "St. Lawrence deep waterway" when completed, will provide continuous passage through the construction of a twenty-seven-foot ship channel from Montreal to open water on Lake Superior, so that vessels commonly operating on the Great Lakes can reach the St. Lawrence and ocean vessels, can, if desired, reach inland ports as far westward as Port Arthur, Port William, Duluth and Chicago.

FIJIAN DELEGATION

The personnel of the delegation from Fiji is unknown, but it is believed that if His Excellency Sir A. G. M. Fletcher, K.C.M.B., C.B., has found it impossible to come himself, that Hon. A. W. Seymour, V.D., Colonial Secretary, will be with the party.

When the vessel docks, possibly about eleven o'clock, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be represented with several Ministers of the Provincial Government at the pier. Major-General the Hon. A. D. McRae, and Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown will receive the visitors on behalf of the Dominion Government, while Major David Leeming and members of the council will express the greetings of Victoria.

LUNCHEON GUESTS

After being cordially welcomed to Victoria the visitors will be taken on a tour of the city, after which they will be guests of the Provincial Government at a luncheon at the Men's Canadian Club, which had planned a luncheon for the occasion, have, by arrangement between the club executive and the Government, been accorded the privilege of attending the luncheon.

After luncheon the visitors will be taken back to the ship, which will sail for Vancouver at 2:30 o'clock, where they will be shown further evidences of British Columbia and Canada's warmth of welcome.

They will leave Vancouver by special train on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the East. By special arrangement, in order that they may enjoy the marvelous scenery of the Canadian Rockies, stops for a few hours will be made at Lake Louise and Banff.

KILLED BY BINDER

ROCKVILLE, Sask., July 13.—Apparently crushed by the bull wheel while repairing a binder, William Stewart, a farmer, seven miles south of Rockville, was found dead this morning a mile from his home. The body was found by a search party after Stewart failed to reach home Tuesday night.

Ran Half a Mile For Rescue Rope

WHITE ROCK, July 13.—A twelve-year-old boy, Harry Obama, who fell off a pier here while fishing, and a companion named Bradley, who jumped into the water to attempt a rescue, had a narrow escape from drowning. Two girls, Lillian Bradley and Allene Williams, ran nearly half a mile to obtain a rope and, assisted by Clifford Potter and Dick Valentine, pulled the boys to safety.

False Manoeuvre Sunk Submarine

PARIS, July 13 (AP).—A "false manoeuvre" caused the sinking of the French submarine Promethee, which went down off Cherbourg, July 7, with a loss of more than sixty lives, the Ministry of Marine announced tonight.

A board of inquiry found that apparently a subtle war opened at the moment when electric propellers were being changed for motor propulsion.

Hon. Peter Heenan Back in the Cab

KENORA, Ont., July 13.—Employees at the Kenora Canadian Pacific Railway shops saw a familiar figure in an old role today, when Hon. Peter Heenan, M.P., who was Minister of Labor in the Liberal Government of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, mounted the cab of No. 2 train to take charge as engineer from Kenora to Ignace.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE SIGN NEW PACT FOR EXCHANGE OF VIEWS

OTHERS INVITED

Sir John explained the accord was in no sense exclusive and that he had already presented copies of it to Germany, Italy and Belgium, inviting those governments to become parties.

"I want to be particularly clear," he said, "On this arrangement, we present co-operating with United States at Geneva, and I am going back there now to help work out the principles of President Hoover's proposals." (These were for a general one-third cut in armaments, land, sea and air.)

Authoritative quarters indicated the pact is meant to indicate how European nations will work together for settlement of European difficulties.

CHAPLIN COMPLAINS HE'S NOT SO RICH

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Charlie Chaplin, listed on the county assessment roll as the richest man in Hollywood, possessing taxable securities worth $1,687,370, has filed a protest with the county board of supervisors, seeking to show his wealth was highly overrated.

His lawyers said the comedian's securities were worth but $1,687,316, and asked for a reassessment. A hearing was set for tomorrow.

PLUNGES TO DEATH

KILLED IN PANIC

CONCEPTION, Chile, July 13 (AP).—Twenty children were reported killed and forty others injured in a panic in the Esmeralda Theatre at the Talcahuano naval base when a film caught fire today.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

EVERY day the mail brings a flood of letters from many from middle-aged women. They prove that Change of Life need not always be dreaded. They tell how the headaches, backaches, can be overcome or avoided.

Please read the end of a typical letter. It's from Mrs. MacCraig. "I took three bottles. It made me strong and healthy. I will always praise your medicine and tell other women about it."

PROPOSES NEW LAW FOR LIQUOR

Leading Prohibition Supporter Changes Views and Moves for Amendment

WASHINGTON, July 13.—A resolution proposing a new constitutional amendment, repealing the Eighteenth Amendment but outlawing the saloon, was introduced in the United States Senate today by Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia.

For years he has been one of the leading Congressional supporters of prohibition.

Senator Glass asked for immediate consideration of his resolution, but this was blocked by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska.

The constitutional amendment proposed by the Virginian would allow states that want liquor to have it, but would keep the saloon unconstitutional. It would also prohibit transportation of liquor into states where it was forbidden.

The amendment would have to be ratified by state conventions within seven years or it would die.

skipper, who has demonstrated in the past that he stands for all that is best in British public life.

"With his leadership," Mr. Thomas said with a smile at Mr. Baldwin, "and the genuine team spirit that exists among us, difficult and delicate as is our task, we are going with a determined spirit to pull it off."

OTTAWA IS THIRD STEP

Mr. Baldwin spoke of the giant British war loan conversion scheme, then of the Lausanne Reparations Conference. "Now there is a third great step," he said, very seriously, "That is Ottawa. We all go out determined to do our best to set going again the wheels of Imperial and, I hope further, the wheels of international trade."

Earlier, before the Empress cast off her moorings at Southampton, Mr. Baldwin was corralled for a last interview by newspapermen. He said then, the British delegation hoped to crown the first year's work of the National Government by agreeing to a policy of freer trade within the Empire, and while we are doing our best in the interests of the Empire overseas," he said, "We look to the people at home to participate in national restoration by overwhelming support of the conversion loan."

FOUR OTHER DELEGATIONS

The Empress carries not only the British delegation, with its numerous departmental experts and imperial trade and industrial advisers, but also the official delegations of South Africa, India, Northern Ireland and Southern Rhodesia. The British delegation includes, besides Mr. Baldwin, and Mr. Thomas, five Cabinet Ministers—Lord Hailsham, Minister of War; Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, the trade and commerce spokesman; Board of Trade; Sir John Gilmour, Minister of Agriculture; Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, the matter-of-fact spokesman of the Exchequer, and Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Secretary for the Colonies.

ENTHUSIASTIC SEND-OFF

The throng of delegates had been given an enthusiastic send-off at Waterloo Station in London, when they boarded the boat train, which had to be run in triplicate. They were in happy mood from the outset. With the exception of Prime Minister MacDonald, ordered by his doctors to take a rest, practically the whole British Government was present at the station to bid good-bye to the departing ministers.

Everybody was in the best of spirits. Mr. Runciman dashed through the throng at the last moment. L. C. M. S. Amery, former Secretary for the Dominions, well known in Canada, who is going this time as an observer representing British colonial interests, was here, there, and everywhere. Sir John Simon and Lord Sankey remained until the train was on its way.

CONFERS WITH BALDWIN

Montagu Norman, slouch-hatted distinguished-looking governor of the Bank of England, rushed to the train and exchanged a few remarks with Stanley Baldwin at the window as it began to pull out.

Another throng was on hand to welcome the delegates at Southampton before they were installed on the great white liner. Finally, it pulled slowly away and turned into the stream, heralded by the dipping of flags and the shrilling of sirens as other vessels saluted her passage.

The Empress is due at the dock under the lowering cliffs of Quebec some time on Monday.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 13.—An unidentified man was killed and a dozen persons were injured last night when a speeding fire truck struck a sedan and hurled it across a sidewalk and through the front wall of a wooden church in which sixty negroes knelt at a weekly prayer meeting. The dead man was an occupant of the sedan.

ROME, July 13.—Senator Guglielmo Marconi today was made a full captain in the Italian Naval Reserve.

HAIL! AND WELCOME

The first of the pilgrims to the Imperial political shrine will arrive in Victoria today. Our cousins from "down under" the Southern starry cross are big men in every sense of the term, and are faced with big jobs. But those of them who are from Australia were faced with a sizable job only a few months ago, and they seem to have made a complete job of it, for the southern states are tranquil politically. Australia is now beginning to experience the benefits of a liberal treaty of reciprocity with Canada, and appears to be on a fair way, if not a high road, to prosperity. For that reason why should something which has been accomplished in a comparatively small way not be brought about in a much bigger way by the consummation of preferential trade arrangements between all the Dominions or nations, or whatever we may elect to call them, within the grand domain of the British Empire?

We are told that if the conference which the delegates from the South Seas have arrived to attend and give the benefit of their counsel and experience is to achieve any degree of success, there must be adopted a policy of "give and take." We do not suppose that any single delegate expects to demand much and give nothing. We believe that the principles of reciprocity will be fully exemplified in the conference discussions and conclusions. That is why we have always expressed the utmost confidence in the ultimate results of the meeting, and why we welcome heartily the first of the big delegations to set their feet on Canadian soil, and trust that many of the people of Victoria, led by representatives of the Provincial Government, will be at the dock when the Canadian ship arrives to join in the welcome and wish them success in their mission.

The British, South African and Indian delegates are on their way, too, also, on a Canadian ship, and should arrive in Ottawa at about the same time if not on the same day as the men from the Antipodes. What a meeting that will be, and what momentous results may be the consequence of it. For all the people of the Empire will be in the midst thereof, and the people of all nations will be interested in its accomplishments. For the first time in history Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, is the centre of the British Empire.

IRISH SITUATION DEVELOPING

In the chequered, but on the whole honorable, history of the British Empire, "it is just one thing after another." If it is not Gandhi it is de Valera. Not that we would suggest that the president of the Free State can be treated after the same manner as the self-appointed dictator of India. Gandhi has been temporarily silenced or put in a place where he is inarticulate. There is at the present time no authority in the Empire that can deal with de Valera in that manner. If the president is to be dealt with at all, his case must be disposed of by the Irish people. The British Government will never again put its finger in such a pie of mixed, if not explosive, ingredients.

The existing Daily is supporting its chief in his policies, now boldly announced, of complete Free State independence. De Valera declares that if he were assured that the British Government would not take hostile action he would lead Ireland into a state of complete independence; but he knows the British Government will not take what he calls hostile action, that no British Government will try to keep the Free State within the British Empire by force of arms. The day for that sort of thing is past.

But the British Government has decided that if the people of the Free State elect to follow their incendiary president to the extreme length of his tether, the consequences must be upon the heads of the people of Southern Ireland; that Southern Ireland cannot withdraw from the Empire and enjoy all the economic advantages of membership in the British Empire. Therefore the issue is in the hands of the Irish people, who for the present may be blind or indifferent to the consequences, but who, after the present emotional spasm has passed, may reconsider the position into which they have been led by their blind and prejudiced leader.

In the meantime there is an Irish delegation on its way to the Ottawa Imperial Conference. The Free State was invited by the Canadian Government to send delegates to the Conference before the present crisis in Irish affairs had developed, consequently it is a natural assumption that the representatives from the Free State will be received by the Canadian Government and the presiding officer of the Conference with all courtesy and cordiality. But it is highly probable that some test will be applied to all the delegates before they are recognized and seated in the assembly. Will the Irish delegates, acting under instructions from de Valera or on their own volition, refuse to take an oath of loyalty to the Crown or to stand upon their feet when the company joins in singing the British National Anthem? These are interesting questions, and the answer to them may mean the projection of the troubled affairs of Ireland into the peaceful business of the Imperial Conference. That certainly is not "a consummation devoutly to be wished."

LAUSANNE AND AFTER

Reviewing the results accomplished at Lausanne in the light of recent revelations, it is clear that the British Prime Minister is entitled to great credit for the patience and pertinacity with which he handled what appeared to be a hopeless situation. Probably not another statesman in the world could have handled a delicate situation so deftly nor so nearly reconciled elements which appeared to be irreconcilable. But while much has been accomplished, much still remains to be done.

The question of reparations has been definitely disposed of, but the question of reparations is closely allied with the question of debts, and that has not been definitely settled. The question of reparations was disposed of by Germany, who bluntly declared that she would pay no more reparations. That position had to be accepted by France (chiefly interested in reparations), Germany paying what she had undertaken to pay. It was no new thing for Great Britain to accept cancellation of reparations. The late Lord Balfour settled that question years ago, but settled it conditionally.

The permanent disposition of the question of international debts, admittedly an obstacle to international prosperity, depends upon the attitude of the United States. The British Prime Minister frankly admits that is the problem of the future. The lately revealed "gentlemen's agreement" recognizes that that is the problem the nations must consider and solve. Mr. MacDonald declares that he has the utmost confidence in the liberality of the views and the generosity of the disposition of the American people, thus admitting a distinction between the American people and the American politicians. But for the next four months the American people will all be American politicians, and will not be in a normal state of mind until after the presidential election.

Anyone who is addicted to the habit of "listening in" these days will realize the uselessness of appealing to the American people on the subject of debt cancellation until after a new president has been elected or the present president confirmed in his position. The ether is saturated with the speeches of politicians, and we venture to say that not one speech admits the possibility of cancellation of international debts. One Senator did suggest a solution of the problem in a characteristically American Senatorial manner. He asked Secretary Stimson to find out if any debtor nations would be willing to meet their obligations by transferring their overseas colonies to the United States. An Associated Press dispatch interpreted this question by pointing out that "Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium and Italy got generous slices of German colonies in Africa. It is not these, however, but the British and French islands in the West Indies, of strategic value to the United States because of their nearness to the Canal Zone, which are coveted by Americans seeking payment of European debts through the transfer of territory."

Mr. MacDonald has wrought a miracle, but his job is not complete.

The rival political forces in the United States are manoeuvring for position. Governor Roosevelt has cunningly suggested to President Hoover that it would be a fine thing in the interests of the whole country if both parties were to sit down comfortably upon one plank of a common platform. All parties are agreed that in the matter of the construction of the St. Lawrence power canal there should be no difference of political opinion. Hence Mr. Roosevelt is raising any obstacles to the construction of the canal, he will be delighted to co-operate with Mr. Hoover in efforts to remove the obstacles. The kindly offer has been curiously rejected. The canal is Mr. Hoover's own political baby (although yet unborn), and he wants no partnership in its paternity. The non-party politicians who are trying to kill party politics by forming new political parties will probably point to this political incident as evidence of the evils of party politics.

Announced that the Government has prepared a list of eight thousand articles which it prepared to admit duty free to the markets of Canada. Such a list would look quite formidable if published in the columns of The Colonist, and probably few people, with the exception of free traders, would scrutinize it closely. And they would only study it for the purpose of finding fault. We know some papers which maintain critical correspondents at Ottawa for that purpose.

There will be many subjects of discussion at the Imperial Conference, but the most important and most delicate subjects on the agenda are tariffs and currency. Stabilized and equalized currency would promote and facilitate trade. Tariffs may direct trade, but not necessarily stifle it.

HANDLING BERRIES

Sir—Having experience of growing and selling strawberries, I naturally read E. H. Livesey's letter on this subject with much interest. As a grower he appears to hold out hope. That is more than many have been able to do in the district, for here nearly every ambitious grower who has tried it has given it up. Till this year there was only one grower in the whole district. He actually had the enormous amount of two whole acres, undoubtedly more than all the rest of the small growers put together, and the total demand wasn't half met. Yet berries sold lower than ever, both here and in Victoria. There is no profit in growing strawberries much below $2 a crate (crate cost 35 cents), and the grower picking his own berries can hardly make wages in the picking season. Then what about the prodigious labor before and after that season? Ploughing and harrowing, planting the young plants, constant work keeping down weeds and runners, and a constant demand for cultivation and not a cent for this work as it is done, but wages going out if it is hired. How can the strawberry growers can pay for this labor and make a profit from the sale of the fruit with it retailing (as I have heard), in Victoria, at 5 cents a box, is more than can be made.

As to Mr. Livesey's remarks about the crate and packing, from what he says the thing has completely gone wrong. His suggestion for a new method has some sense to it, but I think it also has some nonsense. Fancy the consumer paying a box of straw so deep that he would have to climb over the edge of the box to hunt for the berries! What a cry the buyer would put up. "The cheaters," he would say. "Fancy, half a dozen berries in the bottom of a box, and charge 10 cents for it. A modification of his idea would be, as he says, put up the berries in the present tin cans, but loose, namely, cut out the excessive handlings of each berry, as he puts it. That is how I do, and pack my own berries. I say pack, but I really don't pack. I pick carefully, drop loosely into the tin, shake gently once or twice and top with a layer of straw. Over and over again he mentions having to do it. I do not find that berries get crushed with lids average seventeen pounds, and I think the crate is well filled when there are only fifteen pounds of berries in it. I believe the associations call for eighteen pounds of berries, but I think seventeen should be satisfactory.

Mr. Livesey did not touch on the subject of processed berries, or why the growers flooded the local market with berries. I am sure that the berries were selling at 5 cents a box, and that the growers were not getting a fair price for their produce. ## COUNTRY FAIR

Sir—In Saturday's Colonist, in the report of Spanish Welfare Association activities, it stated, while the definite amount was not known, the country fair had been most satisfactory. At the special meeting recently held, the exact amount was stated as follows: Receipts, including donations, $177.64; expenses, $62.71; leaving a balance to the association's funds of $114.93.

MRS. N. DEALEY, Secretary-Treasurer, Victoria, July 11, 1932.

POLITICAL VISION

Sir—May I be permitted a few remarks on Hon. R. H. Pooler's contribution in Sunday's Daily Colonist. There are exhortations to readers to take Conservative views and to emulate the moral and political qualities of the sturdy inhabitants of the Old Cariboo. The Cariboo seems to be the hon. gentleman's spiritual home, the inspiration of his political faith. At the Cariboo, the hon. gentleman's opinion, governments and men of affairs were led into quite unwarranted extravagances by over-optimistic views as to the conditions prevailing in 1928-29. Has it occurred to him that the sad consequences of this over-optimism have fallen most heavily on the less wealthy citizens whose speculations, if any, were limited, to an occasional fling on the stock market or a few shares in a mine? Mr. Pooler begins his article by expressing his faith in the future of this province, Canada, and the continent. He is a sentimentalist, a politician. Whither will this optimism lead the struggling citizen?

At the last election I was present at the Cariboo where a prominent politician (I will spare his names) had a vision of factory chimneys springing up throughout the land. He told me that he only voted Conservative. A little later, in a new year message to the people of this province, his Premier stated that we were living on the threshold of the golden age!

What is the natural reaction of the citizen to all this political prophecy that has so obviously come wrong? He is sick of it. He will give one instance in support of this. I was present recently at a popular cinema in Victoria. In the picture the topic was the new steel bridge across the Strait of Juan de Fuca. The picture was a masterpiece of the Prime Minister of Canada appeared on the screen, and his voice could be heard projecting from the speakers.

What a great advertisement for Spanish and this Island if growers of any berry could get a fair price for their produce. I am sure that the growers would be glad to meet the Old Country demand for processed berries. I am sure that the growers would be glad to meet the Old Country demand for processed berries.

since the middle of February. Mr. Landsberg cannot have reference to Miss Walker in his letter; because the Canadian Federation of the Blind is a chartered organization; also as our collector has been working in Victoria since February, she did not take advantage of the institute's demonstration in June to start collecting for the blind.

There are two organizations interested in blind welfare in this province. For any information about the Canadian Federation of the Blind, get in touch with Miss Beryl Walker, at 1209 Whittaker Street, Victoria, or write to the British Columbia headquarters, Pandora Home for the Blind, 2213 Franklin Street, Vancouver.

Vast Resources of Pacific Dominions At Call of Empire

By W. H. CURRIE

Australia! New Zealand! The Antipodes! Names to conjure with in our romantic youth, when tall ships were still the vogue, and brass-bound apprentices went to sea, to return by and by, bronzed and grown out of all recognition, with strange oaths in their mouths and rings in their ears. High—

WHEN Captain Cook set sail in 1769, commissioned by the Royal Astronomical Society to chart the astral movements in the Southern skies, he had not the vaguest notion that he was to discover a new continent. Dirk Hartog had preceded him by a hundred years and had skirted the western coast of Australia where it fringes the Great Sandy Desert. France, Spain and Portugal had touched it here and there, but their findings added little to the sum of human knowledge. All were satisfied that it was a wild land, inhabited by wilder men. Had they persevered in their investigations, the chances are that Australia would have fallen a prize to some other crown than Britain's. Had they had so much as an inkling of its vast extent and incredible wealth of silver and gold, and of pearls and precious stones, the bluff-bowed Dutchmen and the galleons of Spain would have thronged those Southern seas long before the advent of Captain Cook. But Fate had ruled that they should come, and see, and sail away, and that someone else should conquer.

Cook was a pertinacious soul, with a keen zest for exploration and discovery, and when the dim contours rose on his horizon, he stood in and followed them for thirteen hundred miles. From Port Jackson to where the long swells begin to burst upon the Barrier Reef, he followed the coast, and, lo! it was a smiling land, lush and green with the rich fecundity of the tropics, and altogether to be desired.

And so, in a fashion largely forgotten, a new continent was added to the known world, a new jewel to the diadem of the Empire. Not all at once did Great Britain realize the extent of her good fortune, and what to do with the new territory was something of a problem. Naturally, settlement was slow. The distance was appalling in those days of tedious travel, and among the newer countries there were others, heavier and better known, which appealed more strongly to the emigrant.

IN FIVE STATES
Politically the continent is divided into five sections, New South Wales being the oldest, and the others later offshoots. Victoria came into being in 1850, and with the exception of the more thinly-settled Western Australia, all were given independent government in the "fifties."

At that time the population was roughly 400,000, but ten years later it had been trebled by the finding of gold. The world-famed fields of Ballarat were uncovered in 1851 and men flocked to them from every quarter precisely as they did a few years later to the sand-bars of the Fraser and the rich fields of the Cariboo. "Duke's son, Cook's son, son of a belted earl," they came in thousands, and the sombre chapter of Botany Bay was followed by a brilliant tale of expansion and colonization. Ballarat and Bendigo, Coolgardie and Kalbarrie, are household words, and their mines have produced a staggering total.

Broken Hill in New South Wales is where the silver comes from; Queensland produces a little, but Broken Hill leads immeasurably. Most romantic of all Australia's activities is the pearl-fishing in Torres Straits and the intricate channels of the Barrier Reef. It is a curious fact, but pearl-fishing is very largely an Empire monopoly, and over eighty-eight per cent of the world's supply comes from Australian waters.

IRRIGATION WORKS WONDERS
Lying squarely across the Tropic of Capricorn, Australia suffers from is an asset rather than a problem, and his interests are merged inextricably with ours. The climate of New Zealand is robustly healthy, and its death rate is the lowest in the world. The educational facilities are remarkable. Broadly speaking, there are no extremes of wealth or poverty and a home comfort is the rule, but it is not the country for the emigrant without capital. The islands are in no urgent need of settlers and still are able to pick and choose.

LARGE COAL DEPOSITS
In New South Wales are splendid seams of coal—hard, clean and gassy—and similar areas have been exploited in Queensland, which, up to the present time has the only real anthracite. All the evidence points to huge deposits in Western Australia, and a less important but still quite extensive field in South Australia, so that Victoria is the only part where coal is not present in industrial quantities.

Cattle—beef on the hoof and sleek dairy herds—are still a basic source of wealth and the ranches or "stations" are numbered in thousands. Australia's population of 6,000,000 does not begin to consume its meat production and enormous quantities are shipped abroad. The farm dairy has given place to the central factory and butter and cheese stand high in the list of exports; a country which produces 300,000,000 pounds of butter and 30,000,000 pounds of cheese a year is definitely in the business.

MAGNIFICENT HARBORS
Distances in Australia are immense and make it difficult for the average tourist properly to see the country. Probably its mountain ranges would not impress a visitor from British Columbia, nor would the broad plains of Western Australia seem boundless to one accustomed to the limitless horizons of the prairies, but its harbors are magnificent and Queensland presents a picture of tropical loveliness, of wild, chaotic grandeur and crashing beaches, which is nowhere to be duplicated. In its infinite variety of scene and climate, in the topography is rugged and mountainous, with great areas of virgin forest, and products, Australia has a powerful appeal to the Imperial-minded.

Tasmania, formerly Van Diemen's Land, is a forested paradise, lush and green and heavy with the fruits of the earth. It is quite the most British portion of Australia and intensely British in all its non-Indigenous life. Its area is about twice that of Vancouver Island, to which it bears a striking resemblance, with the same dense forest growth, the same rich soil, much the same climate and a very similar topography. Most of its activities, too, are those followed here.

When Tasman made his casual inspection in 1632 he supposed it to be part of the mainland, although all the width of Bass Strait lies between, and the island lay fallow for nearly two centuries. It was an armed guard gave it its first population, but from that nucleus it grew apace, and today its population numbers around 200,000.

But when one speaks of the overseas England, one means New Zealand, which was peopled from the beginning by the solid yeomanry of the shires.

NEW ZEALAND
The year 1769 was a banner one for Captain Cook. Having discovered Australia and welded it to the Empire, he sailed on and was the first European to sight the island group which today is so much admired. He found it inhabited by a stalwart race, a people clothed in savage dignity, and the white settlers who followed him paid no more price for that footing. It was not until 1840 that the Maori bowed to the Great White Queen, and then less as a conquered people than in wise acceptance of the inevitable. The first settlers were farmers, tillers of the soil, moved by the home-making instinct and not at all by the hunger for gold, and when gold was found in 1861 it did not cause them to lose their equilibrium. At that time the white population numbered not more than thirty thousand, but in all the spectacular development that followed, in the course of which the population rose to nearly a quarter of a million, New Zealand was careful to remain selective. The results are apparent today in an overseas Dominion as strongly British in sentiment, standards and ideals as though it had never been transplanted, and a people "more English than the English." Devonport and New Plymouth, Christchurch and Canterbury, Dunedin and Campbelltown tell their own story, and surely it was a Cameron who named Mosgiel.

SPLENDID PEOPLE
Rather more than 100,000 square miles are comprised in the two islands, and the population today numbers close to 1,000,000, of whom about 70,000 are Maoris. Highly intelligent, steeped in his own folklore and traditions, and with a stern pride of race which sets him apart among the dusky people, the Maori about two per cent, and mining for a mere one decimal-four. Of her total imports (these run close to $300,000,000 a year) more than half come from Great Britain, and quite half of the remainder from within the Empire. Less than twenty per cent come from non-English-speaking countries. There are twenty-one ports of entry, mostly small, but Auckland, Wellington, Lyttelton and Dunedin handle tremendous tonnage. From the scenic standpoint, the country is magnificent, with a regal splendor which makes it supreme in the Southern Hemisphere. In fact, the scenery bears a striking resemblance to our own, with a tropical loveliness to soften its rugged contours.

The wild game of Australia lacks dignity as compared with ours, but the fishing there is good, and the angler who has wrestled with a Murray River cod can shake hands with the man who has played and landed a big spring, New Zealand, however, offers piscatorial thrills quite beyond anything that this continent has to offer, and the fisherman who has hooked and battled with a giant swordfish has lived his life.

There was no big game on the islands when the white men landed, but red deer were imported and splendid heads are common. The deer have thriven amazingly, and cattle, wild boars and mountain goat are plentiful, with pheasants, quail, pigeon and duck.

City's School Expenses Are Down $14,000

School expenditures for the first six months of the year are approximately $14,000 less than for the same period of 1931, it was revealed at last night's meeting of the City School Board when Trustee J. L. Beckwith filed the regular monthly report of the finance committee. The report showed that expenses up to the end of June amounted to $296,291.98 this year compared with $310,119 for the same period last year. Total estimated expenditures for 1932 amount to $508,667. Payment of accounts amounting to $4,898.97 were authorized by the meeting last night. These accounts include $1,423.81 for building and ground repairs.

A Vacation for You

Lake Louise, Alberta, Canada

ARE you looking forward to the time when you will be able to lay down the tools of labour and enjoy a well-earned rest—a permanent vacation amid pleasant surroundings, free from worry or dependence on others?

This need not be an idle dream. It can be a reality for you as it will be for thousands who are "pensioning themselves" by means of Life Insurance Pension Policies, which provide for monthly payments to them at definite ages in addition to the insurance protection in case of early death.

We shall be pleased to send particulars of a pension policy for yourself entirely without obligation.

At age 25, for instance, it is necessary to save less than $6 per week to provide a pension of $25 per week for life at age 60. (This includes $10,000 life insurance protection.)

SOCIETY WILL STAGE DISPLAY

Annual Summer Show of Victoria Horticultural Group Next Week

Final arrangements have been completed for the staging of the ninth annual Summer show of the Victoria Horticultural Society to be held at the Willows on Friday and Saturday, July 29 and 30. The steady growth of this annual event and the increasing interest among members of the society in it as a popular feature has necessitated action by the committee in charge to stage the show in a suitable building other than the many downtown halls which, it is feared, would not accommodate the full entry list. The main building at the Willows will be used this year.

A very comprehensive and attractive prize list has been issued and classes have been so arranged to enable all interested in maintaining a garden to make exhibits. The list includes classes for fruit, flowers and vegetables and contains more than a hundred in number.

FINE PRIZES
Many of the society's challenge cups will be placed forward for competition, while a number of trophies have been donated for the show.

In addition to competitive entries, a feature of the display will be the exhibits arranged from private gardens and commercial growers, as many promises of entries for these have been received.

Arrangements have been made with the B.C. Electric Railway Company for transportation facilities with the issuing of commutation tickets carrying the full entry list. These may be obtained from local florists.

WANT BIG DISPLAY
It is the intention of the society officials to secure the finest display ever staged by the organization, and the present indications of the growing season point favorably in this respect.

Those intending to exhibit at the show are advised that prize lists may be obtained from floral stores in the city and from the Public Market, or will be mailed on application to P. E. Boulter, secretary, 538 Obed Avenue (telephone E 8490).

SOVIETS TO MAKE ARTIFICIAL RAIN

Now Carrying Out Experiments in Creation of Clouds With Ultra-Violet Rays

MOSCOW, July 13 (BUP).—Even the rain and snowfall of Russia are to come under the Soviet authorities. An Institute of Artificial Rain has been founded here for the purpose of finding scientific means of creating rain in drought regions and diverting it from parts of the country which suffer from too much moisture.

Branches of the institute scattered throughout the country are now engaged in carrying out extensive experiments in the artificial creation of clouds with the aid of ultra-violet and Roentgen rays. The problem of clearing the air of clouds at airdromes is also receiving attention.

One plan for driving snow away from Moscow is to surround the city with stationary balloons, equipped with apparatus for transmitting high pressure electrical currents, capable of breaking up and driving away clouds which herald the approach of snow.

Average attendance in the city's public schools was usually high for the last month of the term, it was revealed in the report on enrollments for June filed with the school board at its meeting last night.

Total enrollment in the seventeen schools was 5,641, comprising 2,819 boys and 2,822 girls. The average attendance for the month was 5,361.81.

In the Victoria High School there was an enrollment of 1,127 pupils. The average attendance was 1,093.22.

BEE AND VIPER'S POISONS ANTIDOTES

PARIS, July 13 (BUP).—Those who may be bitten by vipers or stung by bees may find consolation in a paper which has been read before the French Academy of Sciences by M. Bouvier.

It has been found that a person who has received a bee sting is practically immune from the effects of a viper's bite, while one who has suffered from the reptile's anger and has been cured has no need to fear any ill-effects from the wrath of bees.

The only disadvantage about the discovery appears to be that no one can be bitten by a viper in order to protect himself against bees.

BRITISH PARTY TO ARRIVE IN VICTORIA NEAR END OF MONTH

A party of thirty-eight persons, composing the British National Union group, will arrive at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday, July 20. They will remain over in the city until Friday, July 22.

The party is manifesting special interest in the farming sections of Canada and will include among their inspections the Prince of Wales ranch in Alberta. On their way back from the Pacific Coast, they will make a stop at Banff.

HORSE MAY LOSE LAST STRONGHOLD

Steam and Electricity to Be Used in Vehicles for Multi-Stop Delivery

RICHMOND, Va., July 13.—The horse, in defence of his last urban stronghold—the short, multi-stop delivery route—may find a rival in a freeless steam-propelled vehicle as well as the electric truck.

The steam vehicle, under plans receiving the attention of Byrd Cardosa, of Virginia Beach, member of the Virginia Academy of Science, would operate from power obtained by flashed steam from a hot-water container under pressure. A small multi-cylinder engine would be used to convert the energy into mechanical power.

The principle of stored heat energy is by no means new, being used in France as far back as 1878 for propulsion of vehicles; but Mr. Cardosa believes it has a practical field in application to the short, multi-stop delivery route.

"And there are many advantages," he said, "the most important being economical operation."

GOATS SUBSTITUTING FOR GARBAGE CANS

ALBANY, Calif., July 13.—Goats are substituting for garbage cans in Albany backyards. Scavengers for propagation of vehicles; but Mr. Cardosa believes it has a practical field in application to the short, multi-stop delivery route.

"And there are many advantages," he said, "the most important being economical operation."

Millions Come And Millions Go

CHAMBERLAIN, S.D., July 12.—Grasshoppers in this vicinity are being wiped out as they come—by the millions.

The insect plague, which last year was accounted the worst infestation in years, is disappearing before a strange malady. Whether it is an unrecognized disease or from the natural parasites of the grasshoppers themselves, has not been determined.

Remanded for Hearing—Wong Chee, arrested by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police at Sidney and charged with being in possession of a quantity of opium, appeared before Magistrate Jay in Provincial Police court yesterday afternoon and was remanded until next Tuesday afternoon for hearing. R. A. Wootton appeared as counsel for the Crown, and J. B. Clearhouse for the defendant.

VENUS FOR NEPTUNE IN COURT

Replacing of Neptune, big red beard and all, by a nude figure, in a painting resulted in a damage case in High Court of Copenhagen, Denmark, recently. In 1919, Harald Moeller, painter, painted a picture of Venus, "The Birth of Venus," by him. Investigating Moeller found that Neptune was "out" and Venus was "in," but the Moeller signature was prominent. Angered, Herr Moeller, slashed the work in several places so that it would not go out into the world bearing his name. The dealer, who had paid $75 for the painting and had no part in the alteration, demanded $500 damages, then $250, but the judge allowed only $25, and granted permission to the artist to remove his signature.

Girl Guides Enjoy Camp Life; Friends Visit "Bradley Dyne"

Nearly Eighty Girls Revel in Bathing and Sports—Biggest Thrill Is Beach Fire at Night—Tents Pitched in Delightful Sylvan Glade

THIS week one of the jolliest Girl Guide camps ever held on the island will come to an end with the folding up of tents and bedding and the departure from "Bradley Dyne," Patricia Bay, of the seventy or eighty girls who have been there under canvas for the last fortnight or so.

Numerous visitors inspected the camp last Sunday, fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters and other keenly interested relations, who were almost as enthusiastic as the Guides themselves about the attractions of the spot, and who almost as ardently hoped the weather would remain good and let the girls have the full measure of their thrilling holiday.

It was the first Sunday "at home." Underneath their veneer of self-control the Guides were obviously excited as they showed their guests about the camp. Tents had to be inspected, then the "sick bay," the storehouse tent, the kitchen, the wash-tent, the bathing beach, the well—even the grease pit. A special piece of resistance, suggested only to the very well-behaved elders, was the privilege of peeping at the mother bird on a nest, which was discovered a few days ago in a shed in the grounds. An incident connected with this reflects the very essence of the Guide spirit.

KINDNESS TO ALL

It was luncheon time. Ordinarily the Guides would have sat down joyously on the grass to eat their meal. But the ground was damp. One Guide suggested they move into the shed nearby. With one accord they took possession. Suddenly a little bird began to fly about the room with frightened fluttering and cheeping. A short search discovered a nest and eggs. With one accord, without a word of suggestion from any of the Guide mistresses, the girls tip-toed out into the rain again and left the startled creature to settle back upon her nest again.

That was a year ago, but the sparrow must have remembered, as she is back in the same place this Summer, and even suffers herself to be quietly scrutinized by a visitor, provided the latter is in charge of a Guide.

DAY'S ROUTINE

Everyone about the camp seems to be busy. Actually the day's routine provides both work and play. Both are constructive, useful and healthful, and are carried out with the most wonderful cheerfulness. At 7 o'clock in the morning the whistle blows for them to get up. While they are dressing the for each day's duties, nearly everyone helps with the clearing up. The mess patrol washes the dishes and lays the table. After luncheon there is an hour's rest time, and girls who wish to spend the 1-cent canteen money, which is the daily allowance for the purpose, may do so at this time. The remainder of the afternoon is taken up with games and other Guide activities, including, perhaps, bathing. Supper, which the cooks usually prepare in the morning, is clear away before the evening campfire, at 8 o'clock. This is an hour much looked forward to by everyone, as in time to come it will be affectionately recalled by everyone because of the friendships it cemented. The day ends, none too early for girls who have been almost continuously on the move since early morning, with the whistle at 9:30 o'clock for lights out.

"BRADLEY DYNE"

"Bradley Dyne" is ideal for the purposes of a Guide camp. On ground sloping gently down to Brentwood Bay, it has clean open glades surrounded by oak trees and coppices of wild roses and willow. Its protected position makes it warm even in such weather as the past few days has furnished. When the weather was fine the trees provided welcome shade, and many of the tents were pitched so that the shadow of the oaks fell alight upon them in the hottest part of the day.

For purposes of easier organization and discipline the camp was divided into two groups, with thirty-eight girls in each. Number One camp, on the lower ground, has been in charge of Miss Margaret Ames, the commandant in charge, assisted by Miss Eleanor Butler, of Vancouver, an Eagle Owl who stands very high in guiding. Miss E. Whaley and Miss F. Eagel. Number Two camp, higher up the field in a beautiful natural circular campus, has been in charge of Miss Elaine Gale, assisted by Miss M. Pears, of South Saanich. The accompanying pictures give glimpses of each camp, one showing Miss Butler, quartermaster of group one, outside her store-tent, while the other picture shows the girls of group two standing by the table singing "grace" before luncheon.

WISDOM PRECAUTION The wise precaution of providing a nurse is always taken. This year, Miss Molly Lacey, a graduate of St. Joseph's Hospital, and herself a former Ranger, has filled the post admirably, attending to wasp-stings, bruises and other slight cases. Several times during the week, the Victoria East district commissioner, Mrs. L. A. Genge, visited the camp, always being greeted with shrieks of joy by the girls. On Saturday, the divisional commissioner, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, made a formal inspection, accompanied by Mrs. Genge, Miss Hilda Leighton, provincial camp adviser, and Mrs. Curtis Sampson, honorary president of the Victoria district. They were received by Mrs. Gale, district commissioner for South Saanich.

Esquimalt Garden Fete Most Enjoyable Affair

Beautiful Grounds of Mrs. W. H. Trowsdale Scene of Function by Queen Alexandra W.B.A.—Many Attend Evening Entertainment

The lovely garden of Mrs. W. H. Trowsdale, 631 Esquimalt Road, was the scene of a large gathering of members and friends of Queen Alexandra Review, No. 1, Women's Benefit Association, when the society held a garden party yesterday afternoon. Miss Annie Reid, the general convenor, was presented with a bouquet of roses by Mrs. George Bowden, and opened the fete at 2 o'clock under the flags of the order. She was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. Trowsdale.

In the evening, at 8 o'clock, a large number attended the bridge and whist party, which was supervised by Mrs. Schmels and Mrs. Stephens. A social programme for those not playing cards was given, enjoyed, after which refreshments were served by the committee.

SUPPER SERVED
Tea was served from 3 to 5 o'clock in the garden, where small tables, gaily decorated with narcissi and roses, were placed. Supper was served from 6 to 7 o'clock in the dining-room, where large tables had been decorated in the club colors of red and white, with tall tapers in silver sconces and red roses. Mrs. Olive Rickels was in charge of the refreshments, and was assisted in serving by Mrs. Madge Harris, Mrs. Trowsdale and Mrs. Ada Davis.

Attractively decorated booths were placed throughout the grounds and were well patronized. A home-cooking stall was managed by Mrs. Kathleen Herring, assisted by Mrs. Mary Laird. Candy was sold by Mrs. Alice Malcolm, and the fancy-work table was presided over by Mrs. Mabel Burnett, Mrs. George Bowden and Mrs. E. Thompson. The superfluous stand was in charge of Mrs. C. Moraes, and house-holds were supervised by Mrs. Edmonds, and fortune telling by Madame Zander were among the amusements.

PROGRAMME
Dancing and musical numbers, arranged by Mrs. Pertucci and Miss Gladys Clough, were greatly enjoyed during the afternoon, when vocal selections were given by Mrs. Pertucci, accompanied by Miss Ethel Dawson. Miss Hilda Jaques gave a tap dance, and Miss Ethel Gillis a sen in toe and tap dance, while Robina Morton was well received in her gypsy dance.

The proceeds from the affair, which was most successful, will go towards the lodge funds.

Guides to Camp At Gordon Head
Fifty Guides have registered their names for a two-weeks' camp, which is to be held in the grounds at Gordon Head, which have been the scene of a Rangers' camp for the last two weeks.

As in the case of the Guide camp, which has been at "Bradley Dyne," Patricia Bay, for the last twelve days, the girls will be separated into two groups, with Miss Betty Phillips and Miss Betty Durnell in charge, and the following assistants: Miss May Phillips, Miss Lucy Johnson, Miss Edith Green, Miss Wilcox (Girl Scout from the United States), Miss L. Syan, Miss Allison Frank and Miss E. Eversall. A nurse will also accompany the campers.

Shower for Bride-elect
Miss Catherine Albutt, whose marriage is to take place shortly, was the guest of honor recently at a "kitchen shower" given, on Tuesday evening, by Miss Mary King and Miss Helen Welch, at Mrs. King's home on Elliot Street. The first part of the evening was spent in playing bridge, the prizes going to Miss K. Haines and Mrs. Frederick. Miss Albutt was then presented with a large bonbon, prettily decorated in shades of pink and mauve, in which were concealed the gifts. Gladioli and sweet peas were used in decorating the room, pink and mauve sweet peas forming the centerpiece of the supper table. Among the invited guests were Mrs. Ford, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. Prieswerk, Mrs. Gordon Copeman, Mrs. Rendall and Miss H. Rendall, Mrs. King, the Misses F. Bell, V. Curran, D. Elford, W. Ede, K. Haines, Myrtle McDougall, Nettie Marshall and A. Welch.

Spent Honeymoon Here
Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Melvin (formerly Miss Margaret B. Whitman), late of this city, and niece of Mrs. V. S. McLachlan, Glanford Avenue, left on Tuesday night aboard the S.S. H. P. Alexander for their honeymoon trip motoring up Island. While in Victoria they were guests at the Empress Hotel. Mr. Melvin is engineer for the California State Railway Commission at San Francisco, where his wife, before her marriage, was employed in the state offices. They were married recently in California.

Entertains at Dinner

Royal Nuptials in London

ENTIRELY lacking in the pomp which is traditional in royal weddings, the ceremony uniting Prince Leopold of Lowenstein-Wertheim-Freudenberg, and Countess Bianca von Truberg, was recently performed in a registrar's office in London, England. The bride and groom are shown just after the ceremony. The Prince is a member of one of Europe's oldest and most distinguished families.

Social and Personal Notes

Returns From Qualicum
His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor returned from Qualicum last evening to greet the delegates from Australia and New Zealand to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, who will arrive from the Antipodes today aboard the Ma Aorangi. He will also attend the Provincial Government luncheon to be tendered the delegates.

C.G.I.T. Camp Will Open At Sooke Harbor Soon

Registrations Now Being Received From Girls Who Intend Joining Y.W.C.A. Holiday Resort Group, July 19 to 27

(Contributed)
Maple Lawn Camp—What wonderful memories does that name arouse for those who have spent happy days at the Canadian Girls in Training camp at Sooke! White tents in a grassy field shaded by spreading maple trees; the blue waters of Sooke Harbor, and almost always blue sky and sunshine—such surroundings could not but spell a real camp holiday. Add to these charms groups of light-hearted, eager teen-age girls ready for what camp has to offer—games, swimming, study, and even work.

A shrill whistle at 7 o'clock rouses the campers from a night of sound sleep, from which they are thoroughly awakened by a dip in the sea and setting up of cushions. Each girl then enjoys a few quiet minutes alone, during which inspiration and help for the day just starting are gained. At the sound of another whistle, the girls gather around the flagstaff in square formation, recite the Salutation to the Dawn and the United Jack are raised simultaneously. Then breakfast, and the keen camp appetites do justice to the excellent meal prepared by the experienced camp cook and served at long tables under a canvas shade.

INSTRUCTION GIVEN
Well armed for a strenuous morning, the campers leave the tables and repair to their tents, where beds are made and tents made attractive as possible. Bible study hour follows, during which the girls discuss their problems with competent leaders. During the time between this and dinner the girls are instructed in camp craft, nature study, music appreciation and handicraft. After a few peppy group games they are again ready for a hearty meal. Bathing, hikes and games make up the varied afternoon programmes and the sports officer gives instructions in swimming, lifesaving and rowing.

The evening commences with a sunset service, and as the last rays of the sun fade from the sky the camp fire is kindled. Robed in blankets and armed with flashlights and pillows, the girls crowd around the warming fire to hear the reading of an edition of the camp paper, to witness stunts or dramatizations staged by fellow members, or to listen to stories told as only true campers can tell them. Camp songs are sung and gradually the great camp spirit casts a spell over the girls as they ease into the glowing embers of the fire, and stillness falls over the group. Ringing the girls sing "taps" and then off to their well-earned rest.

OPENS ON JULY 19
The camp this year will be held from July 19 to July 27, and will be under the direction of Mrs. W. P. Freeman. The very responsible office of camp mother will be filled by Mrs. Anderson. Sports will be in charge of Miss Ida Astelle, who is thoroughly qualified to teach swimming and lifesaving, and whose duty it will be to safeguard the girls while in the water. Miss W. Urquhart will look after the interest groups, and has prepared an interesting number of classes in camp craft, nature study and handicraft. The groups will be in charge of the following, who have in previous years proved themselves able camp leaders: Misses C. White, N. Halliday, P. Williams and E. Clark.

Girls who have not yet registered for the camp and are planning to go, must send their registrations to the Y.W.C.A. or to the registrar immediately. Transportation will be arranged for those who have no way of getting to camp themselves by phoning Miss Urquhart at E 2049 before Saturday.

Here for Vacation
Miss Elaine Fox, who has been teaching school at Camp Six, Cowichan Lake, has arrived in the city after a few peppy group games they are again ready for a hearty meal. Bathing, hikes and games make up the varied afternoon programmes and the sports officer

Returns Home

MURDER OF HAZEL MOOR

by AGATHA CHRISTIE

CHAPTER XII

Drowned in a sea of talk, Emily and Charles Enderby were shown their new quarters by Miss Percehouse. Emily had a small square room, scrupulously clean, looking out and up to the slope of Sittaford Beacon. Charles's room was a smaller sitting room, facing the front of the house and the lane, containing a bed and a microscope chest of drawers and washstand.

"The great thing is," he observed after the driver of the car had been duly paid and thanked, "that we are here. If we don't know all there is to be known about everyone living in Sittaford within the next quarter of an hour, I'll eat my hat."

Ten minutes later, they were sitting downstairs in the comfortable kitchen being introduced to Curtis, a rather gruff looking grey-haired old man, and being regaled with strong tea, bread and butter. Devonshire cream and hard-boiled eggs. While they ate and drank, they listened. Within half an hour they knew everything there was to be known about the inhabitants of the small commune.

First there was Miss Percehouse, who lived in No. 4 The Cottages, a spinster of uncertain years and temper who had come down here to die, according to Mrs. Curtis, six years ago.

"But believe it or not, miss, the air of Sittaford is that healthy that she picked it up from the day she came."

"Miss Percehouse has a nephew who occasionally comes down to see her," she went on, "and indeed he's staying with her at the present time. Seeing to it that the money doesn't go out of the family, that's what he's doing. Very dull for a young gentleman at this time of year. But there, there's more ways than one of amusing yourself, and his coming has been a providence for the young lady at Sittaford House. Poor young thing, the idea of bringing her to that great barnack of a house in the Wintertime. Selfish is what some mothers are."

A very pretty young lady, too, Mr. Ronald Garfield is up there as often as he can be without neglecting Miss Percehouse.

Charles Enderby and Emily exchanged glances. Charles remembered that Ronald Garfield had been mentioned at the table turning.

"The cottage this side of mine, No. 6," continued Mrs. Curtis, "has just been taken by a gentleman by the name of Duke. That is if you would call him a gentleman. Of course, he may be and he may not. There's no saying, folks aren't so particular nowadays. A beautiful sort of gentleman he is—might be a military gentleman from the look of him, but somehow he hasn't got the manner. Not like Major Burnaby, that you would know him."

A military gentleman the first time you clapped eyes on him."

"No, that's Mr. Ryecroft's little elderly gentleman. They do say that he used to go after birds to outlandish parts for the British Museum. What they call a naturalist he is. Always out and roaming over the moor. And he has a very fine library of books. His cottage is nearly all bookcases."

"No, 2 is an invalid gentleman's. A Captain Wyatt with an Indian servant. And poor fellow he does feel the cold, he does. The servant I mean, not the captain. Coming from warm outlandish parts, it's no wonder. The heat they keep up inside the house would frighten you. It's like walking into an oven."

"No, 1 is Major Burnaby's cottage. Lives by himself he does, and I go in to do for him early mornings. He is a very neat gentleman, he is, and very particular. He and Captain Trevelyan were as thick as thieves. Friends of a lifetime they were. And they both have the same kind of outlandish heads stuck up on the walls."

"As for Mrs. Willett and Miss Willett, that's what no one can make out. Plenty of money there, Amos Parker at Exhampton they deal with, and he tells me their weekly book comes to well over eight pounds or nine pounds. You wouldn't believe the eggs that go into that house! Brought their servants from Exeter with them, they did, but they don't like it and want to leave and I'm sure I don't blame them. If you ask me it's a queer business, burying yourself in the country like this, a smart lady like that. Well, I suppose I had better be clearing away these tea things."

She drew a deep breath and so did Charles and Emily. The flow of information loosened with so little difficulty had almost overwhelmed them.

Charles ventured to put a question.

"Has Major Burnaby got back yet?" he asked.

Mrs. Curtis paused at once, tray in hand. "Yes, indeed, sir, came tramping in just the same as ever about half an hour before you arrived. 'Why, sir,' I cried to him. 'You've never walked all the way from Exhampton?' And he says in his stern way, 'Why not? If a man has got two legs he doesn't need four wheels. I do it once a week as you know, Mrs. Curtis. He looks bad though. It's a miracle he ever got through on Friday night. Brave I call it at his age. You may say what you like, but nowadays the young gentlemen aren't a patch on the old ones. That Mr. Ronald Garfield, he would never have done it, and it's my opinion, and it's the opinion of Mrs. Hibbert at the post." office, and it's the opinion of Mr. Found, the blacksmith, that Mr. Garfield ought never to have let him go off alone the way he did. He should have gone with him. If Major Burnaby had been lost in a snowdrift, everybody would have blamed Mr. Garfield. And that's a fact."

She disappeared triumphantly into the scullery amid a clatter of tea things.

Mr. Curtis thoughtfully removed an aged pipe from the right side of his mouth to the left side.

"Women," he said, "talk a lot. He paused and then murmured, 'And half the time they don't know the truth of what they are talking about.'"

Charles rose. "I think I'll go round and see old Burnaby," he said, "tell him the camera parade will be tomorrow morning."

"I'll go with you," said Emily. "I want to know what he really thinks about Jim and what ideas he has about the crime in general."

They went out together. Mrs. Curtis immediately returned.

"They be gone round to the majors," said Mr. Curtis.

"Ah!" said Mrs. Curtis. "Now, who do you think are they? Sweethearting, or are they not? I wonder what she's after now! Do you know what I think, Curtis?"

Mr. Curtis grunted.

"This young gentleman that the police are holding on account of the murder, it's my belief that he's the one she's set on. And she's come up here to nose about and see what she can find out. And mark my words," said Mrs. Curtis, rattling china, "if there's anything to find out she will find it!"

At the same moment that Charles and Emily started out to visit Major Burnaby, Inspector Narracott was seated in the drawing-room of Sittaford House, trying to formulate an impression of Mrs. Willett. He had hardly known what he had expected to find, but certainly not what he had found. It was Mrs. Willett who had taken charge of the situation, not he.

She had come rushing into the room, thoroughly business-like and efficient. He saw a tall woman, thin faced and keen eyed. She was wearing rather an elaborate knitted silk jumper suit that was just over the border line of unsuitably for country wear. Her stockings were of very expensive gossamer silk, her shoes high heeled patent leather. She wore several valuable rings and rather a large quantity of very good and expensive imitation pearls.

"Inspector Narracott?" said Mrs. Willett. "Naturally, you want to come over the house. What shocking tragedy! I could hardly believe it. We only heard about it this morning, you know. We were terribly shocked. Sit down, won't you, inspector? This is my daughter, Violet."

"He had hardly noticed the girl who had followed her in, and yet she was a very pretty girl, tall, fair with big blue eyes. Mrs. Willett herself took a seat.

"There's any way in which I can help you, inspector? I know a little of poor Captain Trevelyan."

"There's any way in which I can help you, inspector? I know a little of poor Captain Trevelyan."

A postcard mailed in Germany in July, 1881, has just been delivered to the bookshop in Berlin to which it was addressed, the shop having moved in the meantime.

"Inspector Narracott?" said Mrs. Willett. "Naturally, you want to come over the house. What shocking tragedy! I could hardly believe it. We only heard about it this morning, you know. We were terribly shocked. Sit down, won't you, inspector? This is my daughter, Violet."

"He had hardly noticed the girl who had followed her in, and yet she was a very pretty girl, tall, fair with big blue eyes. Mrs. Willett herself took a seat.

but if there is anything you can think of."

The inspector said slowly, "Thank you, madam. Of course, one never knows what may be useful or what may not."

"I quite understand. There may be something in the house that may throw light upon this sad business, but I rather doubt it. Captain Trevelyan removed all his personal belongings. He even feared I should tamper with his fishing rods, poor, dear man."

She laughed a little.

"You were not acquainted with him?"

"Before I took the house, you mean? Oh! no. I've asked him here several times since, but he never came. Terribly shy, poor dear. That was what was the matter with him. I've known dozens of men like that. They are called women haters and all sorts of silly things, and really all the time it's only shyness. If I could have got at him," said Mrs. Willett with determination, "I'd soon have got him over all that nonsense. That sort of man only wants bringing out."

Inspector Narracott began to understand Captain Trevelyan's strongly defensive attitude towards his tenants.

"Mrs. Willett," "Didn't we, Violet?" "Oh! yes, mother."

"A real simple sailor at heart," said Mrs. Willett. "Every woman loves a sailor. Inspector Narracott?"

It occurred to Inspector Narracott at this juncture that the interview so far had been run entirely by Mrs. Willett. He was convinced that she was an exceedingly clever woman. She might be as innocent as she appeared. On the other hand she might not.

"The point I am anxious to get information about is this," he said. "Major Burnaby, as you doubtless know, discovered the body. He was led to do so by an accident that occurred in this house."

"You mean?"

"I mean, the table turning. I beg your pardon—"

He turned sharply. A faint sound came from the girl.

"Poor Violet," said her mother. "She was terribly upset. Indeed we all were! Most unaccountable, I'm not superstitious, but really it was the most unaccountable thing."

"It did occur then?"

Mrs. Willett opened her eyes very wide.

"Occur? Of course it occurred. At the time I thought it was a joke—a most unfeeling joke and one in very bad taste."

"It was curious," said the inspector slowly. "You were very upset, Mrs. Willett."

"We all were. Up to then it had been, oh, just light hearted fooling. You know the sort of thing. Good fun on a winter's evening. And then suddenly—this! It—it's uncanny."

"And you, Miss Willett? What do you think?"

"The girl started. 'I—I don't know. I shall never forget it. I dream of it. I shall never dare to do table turning again.'"

"Mr. Ryecroft would say it was genuine, I suppose," said her mother. "He believes in all that sort of thing. Really I'm inclined to believe in it myself. What other explanation is there except that it was a genuine message from a spirit?"

The inspector shook his head. The table turning had been his red herring. His next remark was most casual sounding.

IMPERIAL OIL INTRODUCES NEW 3-STAR GASOLINE

BIG B.C. REFINERY COMPLETES CHANGE TO NEW PRODUCT

After Months of Preparation Ioco Plant Completed Last Details Early This Morning—Change Over Made With no Cessation of Output—New Units Are Installed

Hundreds of Mobile Tanks Distribute Product Today

FOLLOWING many months of planning and preparation, Imperial Oil's $9,000,000 refinery at Ioco, B.C., changed over production to the New Imperial 3-Star Gasoline during the last eight days. The change-over was a big undertaking. Hundreds of men were employed in the work which culminated last week and hundreds more worked on the changing of stocks in Imperial storage plants throughout British Columbia, although, until the announcement by President C. O. Stillman on his visit here a few days ago, only a few men knew just what was the objective of their labors.

SECRET CLOSELY GUARDED
The New 3-Star Gasoline was developed by Imperial Oil during several years of research and experiment. Up until a few months ago only the chief executives of Imperial Oil and a few of its senior officers knew that this remarkable gasoline was being perfected.

Oil refining is said to be one of the most intricate and elaborate of manufacturing processes. It involves the use of equipment of gigantic size and enormous cost and to convert this equipment without interfering with current production was one of the biggest problems that ever confronted the company's engineers.

ALREADY INTRODUCED
The New Imperial 3-Star Gasoline was introduced in Eastern Canada last September, and it comes to Western Canada, therefore, as a tried and proved success. Appearing on the market with dramatic suddenness on September 3, 1931, throughout the East, after weeks of careful planning, the new gasoline was a tremendous success from the first day. Within five days it became the biggest selling gasoline in Eastern Canada. To make the Western introduction of Imperial 3-Star a success, specialists in the various phases of refining were carefully trained to supervise the work. With the addition of the new units and the revamping of existing equipment preparations were recently completed.

ENORMOUS EQUIPMENT
Many hundred railway tank cars and motor tank trucks were employed to distribute the New Imperial 3-Star throughout British Columbia, thus paving the way for its introduction today. As soon as the refinery changed over boats and trains of tank cars

300,000 Balloons To Be Released in British Columbia

YOUNG British Columbia becomes air-minded with a vengeance today when 300,000 Imperial 3-Star toy balloons will be distributed to children through Imperial Oil service stations and dealers to celebrate the introduction of the company's new and improved gasoline.

Statisticians who are so inclined are at liberty to figure out how many times an aeroplane could circle the world using the energy that will be expended in blowing the balloons up.

GIANT PLANT AT IOCO, B.C.

Imperial Oil Refinery Ships Out Huge Quantities of Oil and Gasoline Daily

COMPANY HAS MODEL TOWN FOR EMPLOYEES

Some idea of the enormous scale of operations at the Ioco, B.C., refinery of Imperial Oil is afforded by the fact that it ships out one train load and thirty ship loads of finished products—oil and gasoline—each day. Fifteen thousand barrels of crude oil run through the equipment daily, and the bill for fuel used to heat the mammoth stills is $2,000 per month. In one day 2,250,000 gallons of water are used, or enough to supply a city of 25,000 people. Each year a hundred large tankers, many of which bring oil all the way from Imperial's South American fields, tie up at the refinery dock and these account for 30 per cent of Vancouver harbor's tonnage.

Ioco refinery is beautifully located on Burrard Inlet and the model town of Ioco, which was built by Imperial Oil to house the employees, is one of the most charming places in the province. The New 3-Star gasoline is being made at Ioco, which has a permanent payroll of 225 men. From the refinery it will

This full-page advertisement is published and paid for by the Imperial Oil Ltd., to signalize the introduction throughout Western Canada of Imperial 3-Star Gasoline, and as a tribute to the loyal co-operation of its thousands of employees which made the manufacture and distribution of the new product possible.

All "Drone" Units Eliminated From Imperial Product

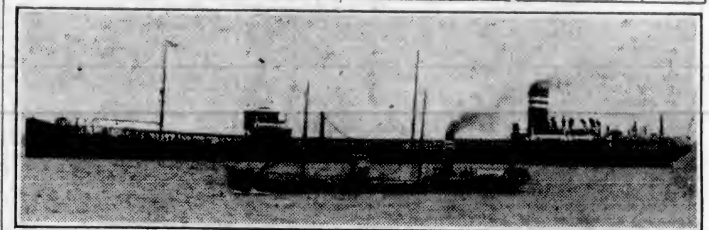

Refining of Gasoline Is Exact Science, Every Branch of Which Has Been Carefully Tabulated by Experts—Imperial 3-Star Designed for Maximum Performance

GOOD gasoline is like a well-disciplined army. Every molecule has its own particular duty, just as officers, non-coms, and privates in the various services such as infantry, artillery and transport co-ordinate all effort to make a smoothly operating and efficient machine. And when an army is being recruited every man is subject to strict medical examination so that only the thoroughly fit will be enlisted.

MUST BE BALANCED
The same applies to the refining of good gasoline; all the undesirable compounds are eliminated and only the able-bodied and ready-and-willing-to-work molecules are selected. The result is a balanced gasoline. In an unbalanced gasoline there gasoline. They make a great show of rushing through the carburetor, but they are such worthless and purposeless fellows that they never do any work at all. The result is what is technically known as "vapor lock" and is particularly noticeable at low speeds when it

Are Largest and Smallest of Fleet

Though they have never met, the photographer has placed the MS. C. O. Stillman, the largest ship of the Imperial Oil fleet and the SS. Imperial, the company's first tanker, side by side for sake of comparison. The SS. Imperial carries 5,507,000 gallons. The S. C. O. Stillman is the largest tanker ship in the world.

of little paper stars, each marked with the figure "3."

As the twinkling little stars fluttered from the sky they found resting places on streets, verandas, roofs and window sills. And great was the mystery and much was the conjecture as to what the mysterious stars meant.

Now it can be told and the mystery is solved. A. C. Upham, piloting a Sikorsky passenger transport, was the mysterious aviator, and since the beginning of last week it is estimated that he has rained down on cities and towns at least two million stars.

Imperial Oil, Ltd., wanted to make the New 3-Star as familiar as possible within the shortest space of time and this interesting and original method of giving advance notice about the coming of Imperial's new and better gasoline turned out to be a huge success. The people in those places which were "bombed" by this friendly messenger from the skies are already familiar with the name 3-Star. Today, when so many thousands will try the new gasoline, they will have a better idea of its true significance.

are units. These are "heavy ends" which can only do honest work as kerosene. They are the laggards and loiterers. They slip past the piston rings into the crankcase where they do mischief by diluting the oil.

In an unbalanced gasoline there are "wild fractions" that should not be incorporated in the light ends. These are the shirkers and deserters. They cannot be disciplined because they are fixed gases—not causes stalling—which is usually attributed to poor carburetor adjustment instead of to the gasoline.

There is no possibility of vapor lock with the New Imperial 3-Star because in the refining process the unstable gas constituents have been removed. Every gallon of the New 3-Star is fit and ready to give greater mileage, greater power, smoother performance and more efficient service.

FOR all the services involved in the manufacture, distribution and marketing of gasoline, Imperial Oil earnings are only 1.01 cents a gallon. This was established by the auditors appointed by the Federal Government in the recent gasoline investigation.

Aerial View of Ioco—Imperial Oil's Refinery on Burrard Inlet

This is a real bird's-eye view of the Ioco Refinery of Imperial Oil, Limited, for it was taken from an airplane. Ioco is situated on Burrard Inlet and according to an American petroleum journal is the most beautifully located refinery in the world. It is also one of the largest oil refineries in the British Empire and is the second largest of Imperial Oil's seven refineries in Canada. The refinery proper is towards the left of the picture and beyond it is beautiful Deer Lake, from which the plant's fresh water requirements are supplied. To the right is the model town of Ioco, built by Imperial Oil to house employees. Ioco is a pleasant drive from Vancouver and visitors will be welcome during the five-and-a-half-day working week or by appointment on Saturday afternoons and Sundays. Appointments can be made by telephoning A. D. Grant, superintendent at Ioco, or C. M. Rolston, divisional manager of Imperial Oil at Vancouver. A trip through the plant is very interesting as the enormous equipment processes over four million barrels of crude oil annually and consumes 2,250,000 gallons of water a day, enough to supply a city of 25,000 people.

SPECIAL RATE IS ANNOUNCED

Exhibition Secretary Mearns Obtains Concession—To Meet Breeders

On the eve of his departure for the Mainland, where he will meet stock breeders to discuss details in connection with the forthcoming exhibition, W. H. Mearns, secretary of the British Columbia Agricultural Association, announced yesterday that railway officials had given special privileges in connection with freight rates to induce more entries in the exhibition.

Mr. Mearns has been negotiating and Canadian National Railway and Canadian National Railway for some time, and yesterday was able to state definitely that stock breeders would be able to send their cattle to the Victoria show on the same special rate as was given last year. This year Victoria opens the circuit so that all stock will be freighted here and returned free, Mr. Mearns said.

During his visit to the Mainland, Mr. Mearns will meet outstanding breeders of the Lower Mainland at a meeting to be held in Vancouver at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Later he will meet other breeders in Chilliwack and other Fraser Valley points.

The secretary said he would be in a better position on his return to give an estimate of the entries in the stock sections, but there were indications at this early date that pointed to another record year.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

HOW MUCH FAT SHOULD YOU CARRY?

You may have a feeling that you are carrying too much fat in and on your body, or you may feel that, despite the fact that your friends tell you you are too fat, you are just carrying the right amount for health.

How much fat or what proportion of fat should you have in and about your body?

The right proportion for health is thought to be about one-twentieth of your body weight.

Perhaps you wonder why nature allows the body to store such a large amount of extra fat in the system, which is really a menace to health. As a matter of fact, this is exactly what nature does for every organ and tissue in the body; it always does, or can do, more than the ordinary or the necessary amount. The stomach will hold enough food at one time to do for a whole day; the large intestine will hold the wastes from the food of two or more days; the heart can beat twice as fast, and the lungs breathe twice as fast as usual, when occasion arises, and so forth.

This when man was created, as he might, by hunting, get a big meal today and no more food for a day or two, his stomach was made large enough to hold this much food.

And this is exactly what is happening in so many individuals who are putting on a great amount of fat. Nature has, or had, in mind that fat could be stored up as food in the system and could be used if no food were available at times. This is seen in the animal kingdom when bears will so feed themselves in the Autumn that enough fat will be stored in their bodies to last them until the Springtime.

Fortunately for most of us, we can eat as much as we like of the foods we like, and no fat is deposited, but there are a great many individuals who must actually measure the food they eat and keep it at a certain definite amount or fat will rapidly accumulate.

To prevent fat formation, therefore, these individuals should eat the regular or ordinary amounts of the foods that do not make fat and cut down on the foods that, while giving energy to the body, are nevertheless the actual fat formers.

This means that meat, eggs and cereals should be eaten in full quantities as they are tissue builders, and starches—potatoes, bread, pastry and fats—butter, cream and fat meats—should be cut down at least twenty-five per cent, if the right amount of fat and no more, is to be kept stored in the body.

British Columbia Included in Home Canning Campaign

To stimulate interest and encourage competition in home fruit canning, the international home canning campaign will be extended to British Columbia, it is stated by Bill Brothers, of Muncie, Indiana, sponsors of the campaign, in a letter to the Provincial Department of Agriculture here.

Samples of canned fruits will be entered in the international canning contest to be held at Aurora, Ill., this year, and in the Progress Exposition, to be held in Chicago next year. The contest is open to all women canners in British Columbia, and Bill Brothers will send, free of charge, four containers and will pay transportation for the return of the filled jars. Arrangements have been made with customs officials for exemption by both countries from duty.

All information concerning the contest may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture, or by applying to the United States Consulate, or direct to Bill Brothers.

EFFORT IS MADE TO STOP STRIKE

Rivers Inlet Fishermen Hold Meetings, but No Settlement Reached—Police Keep Order

At a late hour, yesterday, efforts were being made to reach a settlement between the canneries and the striking fishermen at Rivers Inlet, it was learned at Provincial Police headquarters here, yesterday, through a wireless report from the officer in charge of the police forces in that area.

Several informal meetings between the fishermen and cannery representatives were held during the day, and no trouble was reported. In the meantime additional police constables were sent to the area from the Victoria headquarters to take care of any disturbances that might arise should the strike be prolonged. Eight members of the force left yesterday morning and will reinforce the

"CANCER"

If July 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:35 a.m. to 11:50 a.m., from 5 p.m. to 6:15 p.m.; and from 9:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:40 a.m. to 9 a.m. and from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A perry atmosphere will prevail on July 14, and there will be much ado about nothing, a fatiguing and fruitless time. Errors of judgment in business and the malicious influence of a "catty" acquaintance are the two outstanding dangers of the day. Restraint, tact and caution are called for.

The child born on this July 14 will have all its wits about it and will be a handful of mischief. It squad of ten now at Rivers Inlet. The strike of approximately 1,500 fishermen was called following a meeting held on Tuesday morning. It is understood that the independent fishermen were not in favor of leaving their nets, but the majority ruled.

You, if born on July 14, are a bit of a diamond in the rough, particularly so if a man. You are hard, although your hardness is often tempered with kindness, and your roughness displaced by tenderness. Strength and obstinacy are your two sustaining qualities. You will lead your own life in spite of any and all human connections, and will remain very individualistic. Your virtues are many, but your graces are few.

There is nothing in you which is not evident to the whole world. Your sense of justice and loyalty can absolutely be counted upon. Your methods are direct, your speech is blunt, and you do nothing in a mincing way. You are admired greatly, or thoroughly disliked, probably through fear or jealousy.

If you are a woman, you are thoroughly effeminate in many of your tastes and manners, but you take a man's attitude towards many things, and your most understanding friends will not be amongst those of your own sex. You are too capable to ever be a clinging vine, and will probably always be a tower of strength to others. You are both intelligent and intellectual, and your interests extend beyond the horizon of your home or home duties. July 14 women are pictured as active club or church workers and leaders of community affairs. You would never be a neglectful mother.

CONVICTS' COMPLAINTS FOLLOWED BY FIRE

JOLIET, Ill., July 12.—Fire which broke out in the furniture factory of the new Stateville Penitentiary, late today, was extinguished after doing damage estimated at less than $10,000.

The blaze followed a mild demonstration of convicts displeased with food served them earlier in the day, and a number of the participants were placed in solitary confinement, while an effort was made to determine whether the fire was of incendiary origin.

CHIEF OF POLICE ENDORSES APPEAL

Thomas Heatley Lauds Work Done by Officials of Citizens' Recreation Room

Words of high commendation were expressed yesterday by Chief of Police Thomas Heatley for the Citizens' Recreation Room, which institution is making an appeal for more funds.

"I have visited the recreation rooms on two occasions and am sure that this institution is doing very good work, especially among single men and others who have no homes," he declared.

"Idleness breeds mischief and discontent, and any organization that takes men off the street and provides them with a shelter from the weather and a warm and comfortable place to spend their time, combined with facilities for reading, games, letter-writing and companionship, is doing a real service in the community.

"I feel the institution is in good hands, and that in A. H. Hundley the officials have chosen a capable secretary. The institution certainly deserves the support of the public," the chief stated.

TEACHERS INTERVIEW EDUCATION MINISTER

A delegation of school teachers, headed by Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation, called on Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, at the Legislative Buildings yesterday.

The delegation presented an appeal against dismissal of certain teachers by municipal school boards, and also mentioned the standardization of teachers' salaries. It was intimated that a committee of the federation was preparing a report on these matters, and the Minister urged the delegation to present the report of this committee at the earliest date possible, in order that he might review it.

THERE IS SOLID ROCK UNDER CANADA'S FEET

INSTEAD of straining our eyes looking "around the corner" for that phantom which men call "Prosperity" and never overtake, let us look at some facts:—

Our natural resources are still beyond any accurate estimate; our national wealth over $30,000,000,000.

Our banks are solvent.

Their debits are 11 per cent. more to-day than they were ten years ago.

Their savings deposits more than 22 per cent.

Twice as much life insurance is in force.

While the optimists were peeking around that "corner" and the minor prophets whispering blue ruin, Canadian corporations in 1931 paid out in dividends $226,351,000, an increase of $32,500,000 over the average for six years, and $50,000,000 better than any year in Canadian history prior to 1929.

Why should Canadians stop working to shake apart with Fear? All the "terrible things" that were to happen are fading out of focus.

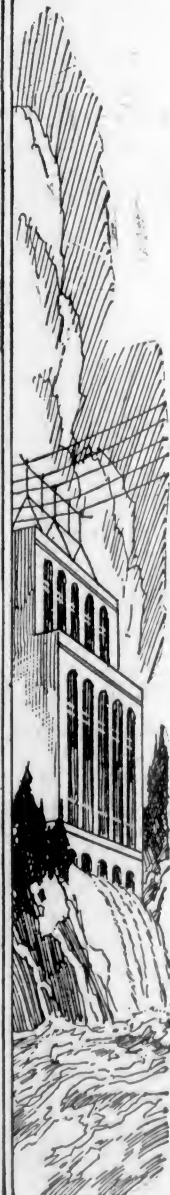

Outsiders knocked down our dollar but our bills to the world have been paid, our taxes met, our hungry fed, and our helpless sheltered.

Masses are always blinded by the immediate view, but our Canadian people are coming to see that a riot of economy is just as foolish and just as dangerous as a riot of extravagant spending.

Sane men of every class must realize the necessity of keeping a constant unrelenting contact with this market that is slowly and surely regaining confidence in itself.

Doctor Dick's Letter Box

TIM MATSON

Dear Doctor,
My husband—up 'til recently a very successful man—though only fifty, now seems very much on the decline. He has lost control of everything—his temper, his financial interests, his business, his affections, and yesterday, when he shot off his bicycle into a steam roller, I deduced that he had also lost control of the handle-bars. Poverty now stares me in the face! What is my best course—if possible?

DESPONDENT DINA.

My Dear Dina,
It is a curious but well-known curiosity that a large majority of apparently successful men, apparently lose their "test-e-que" or their "it-y-avail-une-fou," or whatever it is, around the round age of fifty.
The causes that engender this enigmatical hiatus are manifold and fairly divergent, and I shall grade them, hap-hazardly, as the Stock Market, Boose and Females. If a man has not squandered his own and his wife's fortune on the stock market, or has not developed into an irrevocable snob by the time he's fifty—well, he's positively bound to be foundering around with females. So we'll blame all man's sufferings and dunderings, and failings and wallings, and delinquencies and idiosyncrasies on—WOMAN! Woman, the enigmatical—Woman, the incomparable—Woman, the "Man Behind the Gun," in every intrigue, "triangle" or national crisis that has ever tried to be an intrigue, "triangle" or national crisis, before or since!

Yes, Dina—I don't wish to alarm you—but, as the cause of your husband's recent fall, I suspect a Woman! Worse—I suspect a whole lot of Women! Several—two or three—or possibly a gross! What he does with them, I don't know or care. Maybe he plays badminton with them—they play "squash?" That's for you to discover. But let's toy with them—I'm convinced of it! That's why he's lost all his money—his affection—his equilibrium—his "status quo"—that's what he fell off his bicycle! Peeking, Dina! Peeking—the precious old bum!

Ha! ha! And I know what I'm talking about! I fell out of my pram—I mean I knew a cove that fell out of his cabriolet, last September, for the same reason—and how his wife roared (like a bull) when I told her! But never mind, Dina. That's the way it goes. If it isn't one thing, it's another. If it isn't raining at the moment, it will be in a minute. If it isn't a girl, it's bound to be a boy—and so on and so on—so who gives a damn if we croak or pick blackberries?

Buzz off, Dina! I'm getting angry. Give my love to your silly husband. Goodbye, dear.

Kisses. D.D.

Boston Braves Take Double-Header From Pittsburgh Pirates

National League Leaders Drop Twin Bill to Fast-Climbing Club—Dodgers Trim Cubs—Yankees Win as Athletics Go Under Again

PITTSBURGH, July 13.—Boston's Braves took a double header from the Pittsburgh Pirates in a double upping at Forbes Field today, 5 to 1 and 10 to 5.

The somewhat crippled Pittsburghers never had a chance in either game, with Southpaw Ed Brubeck holding them to seven hits in the first game and the veteran Tom Zachary leading the second massacre.

Meanwhile the Braves pounded hits all over the lot, driving French and Chagnon, starters, to the showers.

French lasted six innings in the first game, Bob Whittington started the run-making with a homer in the second.

Pittsburgh's only run grew out of a walk to Barbee in the seventh. The second game was a pushover for Boston. They greeted Chagnon with three hits, one a double by Berger, and tallied twice. They counted two more in the second when Pinky Hargrave smashed one into the right field stands with Moore on base.

Pirates in the third and Boston scored four more runs on two hits, a walk and two misplays. They made two more in the seventh, but French finished the game.

Dodgers Beat Cubs
CHICAGO, July 13.—Old Jack Quinn again played an important role as a relief pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Chicago Cubs 5 to 4 today.

Quinn, relieving Hollis Thurston in the seventh, held the Cubs in check until two were out in the ninth when a rally started by a walk to Hartnett and hits by John Morreale and Harry Campbell.

Quinn finished the game by striking out Morreale, both pinch hitters, neither one run left, leaving run on third. Quinn settled down, however, forcing Herman to ground out.

Burke, the Braves, although not starting the game, was charged with the defeat, being nipped for the winning runs in the seventh.

Brooklyn..... 5 11 1
Chicago..... 4 8 0
Batteries: Thurston, Quinn and Morreale; Lopez, Smith, Grimes, May, Thomas and Hallett.

Cards Trim Giants
ST. LOUIS, July 13.—Paul Derfing, pitching one of his best games of the year, kept the Giants' bats well scattered while the Cards were pounding Bill Walker and Herman Bell for eleven safeties in two to two today.

The world champions got to Walker for four runs in the first inning and then coasted to victory. Derfing held the Giants to one hit in the ninth, with the exception of the ninth, when two singles figured in the Giants' eighth in ten games on the current Western trip.

Whitney Shines
CINCINNATI, July 13.—The Philadelphia Phillies began to push the Cincinnati Reds back in the lead of the National League cellar today by ministering a 3 to 2 licking in the opening game of a four-game series.

It was a pretty Whitney's work. He tripled in the first inning after G. Davis had singled and Hunt walked. He opened the fourth with a double. He scored on the next two outs. Then the game settled to a pitching struggle, with the Reds rallying their second run on doubles by Hendrick and Lombardi in the eighth.

Philadelphia..... R. H. E.
Cincinnati..... 3 7 1
Batteries: Hansen, Bengie and Torres; Davis, Benton and Lombardi, Manion.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEW YORK, July 13.—Babe Ruth's twenty-fifth home run in the season and Frank Gossitt's second circuit drive drove in four of the runs that gave the New York Yankees a 5 to 3 decision in the final game of the series with St. Louis Browns today.

George Pipgras kept the Browns' seven hits, one of which was a home run by Jack Burns, well scattered, while Ruth connected with his homer in the first with Sewell on base and Gossitt sent the ball into the bleachers in the fourth with Chapman on.

St. Louis..... R. H. E.
New York..... 3 7 0
Batteries: Hubert, Gray, Kenney and Ferrell; Pipgras and Jorgens.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Monte Weaver held the Chicago White Sox well in check as long as it was necessary today and the Washington Senators slugged out a 15 to 4 victory.

To the four errors contributed by Chicago fielders, the Senators added sixteen safe blows, including a triple by Manush. Funk hit a triple for Chicago and Seeds a home run.

Bulgarian to Tackle Local Grappler in Main Event—Brooks Meets Bylund

Ernie Arthur, Victoria, has finished training for his main event bout to a finish, with Steve Nenoff, Bulgarian champion, on the local wrestling card this evening at the Tillamook gymnasium, at 8:45 o'clock. Arthur was awarded the call over his rough opponent last week in the last round on a foul. Bobby Bylund, Minneapolis, will tangle with the season and another by McNair.

In the fifth Simmons blasted his twenty-first homer and in the sixth Averill smacked the fifth home run of the year by an 8 to 7 victory over the Detroit Tigers, winning three of the five-game series.

Earl Whitehill, starting Tiger hurler, was wild and was hit hard, the Sox making four runs off him in the first frame. Johnson and Alexander, his former teammates, contributed doubles in this inning.

Gerald Walker and Tom Oliver returned to the line-up and played sensationally.

Art and Sam Staples Take Nine Wickets for Ninety-Seven Runs Against Essex

LONDON, July 13 (CP).—The Staples brothers, of Nottinghamshire, took Essex wickets fairly easily at the opening of a first-class cricket fixture today, gaining nine between them for 97 runs.

Scores at the end of the day's play in first-class cricket matches were:

Essex, 147. (Arthur Staples four for 47; Sam Staples five for 50); Nottinghamshire, 39 for two.

South Americans, 98 for one (Jackson 66 not out); against G. E. Rowland's eleven.

Worcester, 37 for no wickets, against Middlesex.

Rain prevented play today in the Somerset-Gloucester, Warwickshire-Kent and Durham-All-India matches.

Players 301 (Hampford 110, Allen five for 71) Gentlemen 17 for one wicket, at Lords.

Surrey, 428 for eight wickets (Sandham 62, Squires 36, Gregory 131, Fender 60); against Glamorgan at the Oval.

Sussex 108 for no wickets (Bowler 58 not out) against Northants at Kettering.

Playing fine ball behind their bat, Maccaes captured the first game of the Commercial Softball League play-offs in the city division by scoring a 3-1 victory over the Caledonians last night at Central Park. The teams are playing a best-two-of-three series.

Stock and Bond Prices Advance At Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 13.—Security markets broadened through a well-sustained recovery today, getting helpful co-operation from a number of commodities.

For stocks, it was the best rally in about a month, and also the most active session in the same period. Net gains of 1 to 3 points were generously distributed over a list which had been wandering in a narrow range while stubbornly refusing the break through average low of early June.

The supposition that the technical position of shares had been strengthened since July 1 was borne out by the rather spirited advances in a few recently weak stocks, notably utilities, American Telephone, Peoples Gas and Public Service of New Jersey jumped 2 to 3, giving that group somewhat the better of the movement. However, Chase, American Can, Corn Products, American Tobacco "B," Santa Fe Union Pacific and Allied Chemical were equally strong. United States Steel preferred rose 3-7/8, although there were even better gains in a few other senior equities.

Transactions amounted to 977,619 shares, the largest turnover since June 15.

Speculators for the rise received encouragement from several sources. Adjournment of Congress, it appeared, would not be much longer delayed, and the market was plainly in a mood to anticipate that event.

The bond market reached its highest level of the month, virtually all classes of domestic securities displaying a strong tone. Transactions, which have been gradually widening so far this week, totaled $117,000,000 par value.

Public utility bonds displayed the most buoyant tone of any one group. They recorded a one-half-point gain in the standard statistics average, and a number of issues were up a point or more.

There were strong spots in the industrial and railroad groups. United States Governments pursued their now familiar course of rising prices with the treasury 3 1/8's moving up 23-32nds, and the 3 1/2's 32nds of a point.

Foreign Governments were mixed with Argentine bonds breaking sharply, as yields rising 3 or more points.

VANCOUVER, July 13 (CP).—After an early session of desultory trading in which Beaver Silver, Premier and Reno Gold were the only points of interest, activity eased off to a new minimum in the afternoon session on the Vancouver Stock Exchange, with only three issues being transacted.

Despite the dull tone of the market, active issues showed firmness, and at the close, three issues were higher, with the remainder of the list unchanged.

Beaver Silver led the way in point of activity with a turnover of 3,500 shares. Opening firmer at 37-1/2, the issue maintained that price unchanged from yesterday's quotation.

Reno, next most active trading, with 2,800 shares sold, halved a 2-point gain to close at 39. Premier, with sales of 2,100 shares, dropped two cents from an early rise to close at 47, up 1/2. Sherri Gordon, in the Eastern mines section, sold up 4 to 40.

WHEAT PRICES CLOSE HIGHER

Strength at Liverpool Pulls Values Upward at Winnipeg Market

WINNIPEG, July 13 (CP).—Wheat continued to attract strong support on the dips here today, and strength at Liverpool pulled prices up at the finish for a close 3-8 to 1-2 cent up.

July and October each gained 3-8 cent to close at 53, and 56 respectively, and December moved up 1-2 cent to 57 1/2.

The better tone at Liverpool was due to the comparative steadiness on this side yesterday, but demand for wheat continued slow, according to reports from Broomfield. Little export business could be traced.

Crop news was generally favorable, with regard to the North American situation, a continuance of dry weather being predicted for the United States southwest.

Interest in cash wheat was at a minimum, only a small quantity of No. 3 Northern being worked.

There was no broad demand for any of the coarse grain, and while some rye was worked for export, the volume was small.

At the Theatres

CAPITOL OFFERS "SO BIG" TODAY

Barbara Stanwyck has Leading Feminine Role in Elaborate Screen Production

"So Big" starts today at the Capitol Theatre. This announcement should be of interest to admirers of Barbara Stanwyck, who stars in the picture, of Edna Ferber, who wrote the novel from which the film was adapted, and to lovers of good pictures in general. For "So Big" is regarded by Warner Bros. as one of the best productions of the company's list for this season, and where it has been shown agree with them in this view.

"So Big" is one of the most elaborate and expensive productions ever turned out by a Hollywood studio, and Barbara Stanwyck is supported by a cast that can really be honestly described for once, as practically all-star. Barbara's leading man is George Brent, that handsome young Irishman who is making such a sensation just now on the screen.

Another famous young man who appears in the film is Dickie Moore, who, though he is only five years old, has made an enviable record as a heart-breaker.

EMPIRE Before entering picture-tunes, Kent Taylor, who plays a supporting role in Paramount's "Forgotten Commandments," now at the Empire Theatre, fended the gas ovens in a Chicago nut and bolt factory. He felt the lure of the screen and went to Hollywood, but sought a commercial job in Los Angeles before approaching the studios. He became an awning salesman, and in due time he got his chance for a screen try-out. It was successful.

DOMINION "As You Desire Me," starring Greta Garbo, is now at the Dominion Theatre, in a filmation of the sensational Luigi Pirandello play, which scored an outstanding hit when presented on Broadway last season. Miss Garbo has the role of a cabaret entertainer who poses as a nobleman's wife and then finds herself in the midst of a series of intriguing adventures, in which she is hard put to convince the world that she is not a fraud.

Playhouse Theatre.

"Be Yourself," one of the most elaborate musical revues ever presented by the Joseph M. Schenck organization, was directed by Thornton
Freeland. Although the "Kick-

"Yes, sir, pretty often," answered
the boy.

"What brand do you generally smoke?"

"Robinson Crusoe," sir.

The visitor pondered a little. "I have never heard of that brand," he admitted.

"It's a name I've given 'em myself," explained the boy. "You see,
guv'nor, Old Crusoe was a cast-

"After Tomorrow"
Opens Here Today
Young love's struggle against the domination of sentimental mothers forms the powerful theme for "After Tomorrow," Frank Borzage's latest picture, which opens today at the Columbia Theatre.

Living their romance in the whirl and bustle of New York city, Charles Farrell and Marlan Nixon, in the leading roles, typify the wholesome optimistic and cheerful self-sacrifice that is being lived today by thousands of similar youngsters with dependent relations. The story is told richly and effectively, spiced with rich humor, and in addition to the splendid performances of Farrell and Miss Nixon, it boasts of some strong character and humorous portrayals by such celebrities as Mimi Ginnbell, William Collier, Sr., and Mrs.
Josephine Hull.

The hotel boots was puffing away at a cigar when a visitor, thinking he would have a little fun at the boy's expense, asked him if he always smoked cigars.

"Yes, sir, pretty often," answered
the boy.

"What brand do you generally
smoke?"

"Robinson Crusoe," sir.

The visitor pondered a little. "I have never heard of that brand," he admitted.

"It's a name I've given 'em myself," explained the boy. "You see,
guv'nor, Old Crusoe was a cast-away."

THE SCARLET LETTER

We have an inquiry as to the origin of "The Scarlet Letter" as a symbol of immorality. "Why not," asks our reader, "a blue letter, or,
for that matter, purple?"

The reference in this expression is to the scarlet letter that was the badge formerly borne in Puritan states by unmarried mothers. It is with that significance that Nathaniel Hawthorne named his famous novel, "The Scarlet Letter."

However, the use of "scarlet" as a synonym for "heinous" is quite time-honored, being found in the Bible, as is also the expression,
"scarlet woman."

INSPECT FRASER VALLEY DAIRIES

Veterinary surgeons of the Provincial Department of Agriculture are engaged in a general inspection of the Fraser Valley dairy cattle, and, as soon as completed, a report will be placed in the hands of Hon.
William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture.

Progress reports are being received, but no information concerning reclassification of herds will be given out until the whole area has been covered. The dairy cattle population of the Fraser Valley is approximately 80,000 head, 1931.
